Story of Political Corruption Told

BIG LINES OF WORKERS AT PAY WINDOW

HUGE ROLL OF BILLS

Republican Organization In Philadelphia Blamed For Unusual Conditions

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—A story of back room politics, inferential vote buying and corruption in accounting was related to the senate primary investigation committee today by T. Henry Walnut, chairman of the Philadelphia committee which acted for Gov. Gifford Pinchot in the May Pennsylvania senatorial primary.

Walnut charged that the Republican organization of Philadelphia and the system it had built up are responsible for the unusual conditions in the Quaker City.

Citizens, there are satisfied to let organized politics become unrestrained in "buying elections through money and promises," he claimed.

Paying Off Workers
Frederick K. Beutel, Pittsburgh, chairman of the Pinchot speakers and meetings committee, described the method of paying off watchmen and workers at Pepper-Fisher headquarters in the Hotel Henry, Pittsburgh.

"There was a constant line, 150 feet or 200 feet long, in front of the pay window," Beutel said. "They paid $200 an hour under the system. I saw them paying actively on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. On Saturday, the line wasn't so long."

Beutel said he saw "one man with a roll of apparently $10 bills that big," pointing to an ash tray three inches in diameter.

Most of the paying was done in bills of $10 denominations.

Thinks He Knows Paymaster
He said he thought S. J. Topley, treasurer of the Pepper west state campaign committee, who testified last night, had acted as paymaster, although he was not sure.

At Vane headquarters, the "scramble" for money was even more vigorous.

"They paid off in Vane headquarters Wednesday and Thursday," said the witness. "The line on those two days was about six wide."

The rest of the week, payments were made from an alderman's office.

Everybody who was "good for $1000" for the George Wharton Pepper million-dollar campaign fund was put on Pepper's senatorial campaign finance committee, Robert Glendinning, Philadelphia banker, who organized the committee, told the senate investigators today.

Calls on Likely Ones
Glendinning said that, when he started Pepper's Philadelphia organization, he went to everyone he thought was "good for a thousand."

"I got 30 or 40," he added. Glendinning said most of those from whom he obtained money were big business men and capitalists. Reading from the lists of the committee, he described the business connections of each at the request of Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, chairman of the investigating committee.

Glendinning said he had first seen Edward W. Bok, Philadelphia, donor of the $100,000 "Bok peace plan," who declined to serve on the committee, but gave $2000.

Prisoners Fight
Duel Behind Bars

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Two prisoners fought a bitter knife battle in a cell at the new Los Angeles county jail today. Joe Chavez, 18, was probably fatally slashed, and Jose Espinosa, 33, his asserted attacker, faces a probable charge of manslaughter.

According to jail attaches, Chavez and Espinosa, who are cellmates, clashed this morning when the latter became angered at Chavez's efforts to arouse him from his sleep. Chavez was slashed in the throat with a razor, and may die.

The prisoners, both Mexicans, were arrested recently on narcotic charges.

4 ARE KILLED WHILE ON WAY TO AUTO RACES

(By United Press)
ALTOONA, Pa., June 12.—Four persons were killed in automobile accidents today, while enroute to the Altoona speedway for the 250-mile automobile races.

Charles Sauer, 24, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was killed in a crash near Williamsburg.

Three men from Towanda, Pa., members of a party of five, were killed when their car failed to negotiate a turn on "Dead Man's curve," about 15 miles east of Bellefonte.

TWO COUPLES DIE IN MOTOR CRASH

GUILFORD, Ct., June 12.—Four persons, two of them Yale students, were killed in an automobile crash near here early today.

The couples were returning to New Haven in a roadster when the machine left the road while going at high speed on a curve and crashed into a tree.

The dead are: Mrs. Edwin Besser and Miss Dorothy Kierman, both of New Haven.

Man O' War's Son Wins Rich Stakes

BELMONT PARK RACE TRACK, New York, June 12.—Samuel D. Riddle's Crusader, son of "Man O' War," won the rich Belmont stakes here this afternoon. W. Siegle's Espino was second and J. E. Widener's Haste, third.

For the third time in history, Man O' War has figured in the historic stakes. The great horse himself won it when he was a 3-year-old. Last year, American Flag took it down and today Crusader carried on the tradition.

Albert Johnson gave the great distance runner the kind of riding he liked and kept him back of the running until they turned for home.

Then he let out a whip and Crusader went into the lead, coming home under a pull with plenty in reserve.

Harry, Former Wife and Russell in Atlantic City Night Club

(By United Press)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 12.—Harry K. Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit are still reconciled.

Thaw escorted Miss Nesbit to her home on South Vermont avenue at daylight today, after they had spent the time since midnight at a cafe on the boardwalk, where Miss Nesbit is doing a song and dance act. They were accompanied by Morgan Pendleton, friend of Thaw.

Thaw was waiting in the cafe when Miss Nesbit and her son, Russell, entered at midnight. He walked over to her table with an expansive smile, took her hand and squeezed it. He bent toward her to kiss her, but Evelyn ducked her head, laughing.

Russell said, "Hello, H. K."

Miss Nesbit sang several songs, including "I'm Nobody's Mama Now." Thaw hummed the tune. When her act was finished, she joined Thaw and Pendleton.

Thaw and Pendleton today planned to discuss with a lawyer the purchase of a home for Miss Nesbit, which Thaw, it is said, has promised her. It was said he had agreed to spend $25,000, the house to cost $18,000 and the furnishing $7000.

DAVE LEWIS WINS AUTOMOBILE RACE

SPEEDWAY, ALTOONA, Pa., June 12.—Dave Lewis, in a spectacular finish, today won the 250-mile automobile race here from a field of 14 drivers.

Batten finished second and Duff third, with Hill in fourth place.

The quartet came up in the last 50 miles.

The winner's time was 2 hours, 13 minutes and 24 seconds.

Lewis and Batten each went the distance without once being forced into the pits for repairs. All the racing cars were equipped with engines of small displacement.

HUSBAND SLAYS MODERN VENUS AND KILLS SELF

(By United Press)
VENICE, June 12.—Mrs. Miriam Wells, 36, known as "the modern Venus," and her husband, Robert E. Wells, 47, wealthy real estate auctioneer, were found shot to death in their home here. Police concluded today, after investigating the tragedy, that the bathing beauty was shot by her husband, who in turn killed himself.

Domestic friction was attributed as the motive behind the shooting. The couple had frequently brought their difficulties into court, police said, and, last Wednesday, Mrs. Wells filed suit against her husband for divorce.

She accused him of beating her in a police complaint filed last February. He countered by charging her with suspicion of insanity. Other quarrels between the pair had been investigated by police.

Mrs. Wells first gained fame as an artist's model and bathing beauty. She was formerly the wife of Abe Hammerstein, New York theatrical man. She married Wells on April 3, 1925, after divorcing her second husband, James F. Simmons, wealthy manager of a musical instrument manufacturing company.

Sailing Cruisers Start Long Race

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Promptly at noon, six noted sailing cruisers left Los Angeles Harbor today, in the annual yacht race to Honolulu.

Within a space of seconds, all six entrants crossed the starting line when a six-pounder belched the signal, and flags were hoisted for the push-off of the Pacific coast's racing classic.

The race is over a course of 2225 nautical miles, and is expected to run from 12 to 15 days.

The yachts which got off to the start were Don Lee's Invader, John Barrymore's Mariner, Clem Stose's Teva, Walter Uorne's Pointsettia, Milton Hesselberger's Molliou and James Dickson's baby schooner Jubilo.

The harbor swarmed with vessels, loaded with spectators, hundreds lined the shores to view the start of the ocean classic, run annually for the Lipton cup.

234 RECEIVE JUNIOR HIGH CERTIFICATES

Joint Exercises of Promotion for Classes Are Held in Poly Auditorium

STUDENTS IN PROGRAM

137 Complete Course at Julia C. Lathrop School And 97 Finish at Willard

A RECORD CLASS of 234 graduates of the Santa Ana junior high schools received certificates of promotion last night, in the exercises held in the Santa Ana high school auditorium.

Almost every seat in the auditorium was taken by parents and friends.

Principal H. G. Nelson, of the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school, presented the class of 137 from his school and Principal Will S. Kellogg acted for the 97 graduates of the Frances E. Willard junior high school.

The evening program was opened with invocation by the Rev. Samuel Edgar.

Students Entertain
Then followed an entertainment by the graduates. Frances Willard students conducted the first part and the Julia Lathrop students were in charge of the second part. The musical numbers and readings were enthusiastically received by the audience.

At the time of awarding certificates, high scholarship recognition was accorded four students. They were Frances Seydel, Julia Lathrop, and Adair Ellis, Katherine Barr and Elva Cook, Frances Willard.

J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, presented the certificates. He said, in the course of his remarks, that Santa Ana has a remarkable school system, capable of offering 151-2 years of instruction, from the kindergarten through the junior college.

Accepted Into Senior High
The class was accepted into the senior high school by Principal D. K. Hammond. He urged the students to aspire to ever greater achievements.

"It is better to travel hopefully than to arrive," Hammond quoted. "Education is not a quantity product. Many varieties of definitions might be given for it but the one that I believe is the progressive improvement of a pupil's behavior." I should like to leave with you," Hammond told the graduates.

After the certificates had been awarded, the students marched to the auditorium platform and closed the exercises with the singing of "America the Beautiful" and giving the flag salute.

MAGEE READY FOR TRIAL OF MURDER CASE

(By United Press)
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 12.—Confident of his exoneration, Carl C. Magee, militant editor of the New Mexico State Tribune, today prepared for his trip to Las Vegas for another court battle.

Magee is slated to go on trial Tuesday in the San Miguel county district court, at Las Vegas, for the killing of John Lassiter, a bystander, during a fist fight with former Judge D. J. Leahy, in a hotel lobby there last August. Lassiter was struck by a stray bullet when Magee fired at Leahy, who had knocked the editor to the floor and was kicking him. Leahy was struck in the arm.

Although Magee has completed plans for his defense of the manslaughter charge lodged against him, he held several conferences today with R. H. Hanna and J. S. Vaughn, his attorneys, and briefly discussed the case.

In addition to Hanna and Vaughn, Fred E. Wilson, state's attorney general, will appear for Magee.

When the editor enters the little courtroom at Las Vegas, Tuesday, it will be the third time in the last four years he has been on trial there. Magee appeared before Leahy on charges of criminal libel and contempt and was fined and sentenced to jail by Leahy. Gov. J. F. Hinkle pardoned the editor, however.

Magee's trial will be presided over by Judge Luis Armijo, who defeated Leahy in the 1924 election. Judge Armijo was district attorney when Magee made his previous appearances in court, but did not participate in the cases, as Leahy appointed special prosecutors.

Sheriff Lorenzo Delgado, who ushered the editor into the courtroom in the past, again will be the officer of the court. Whether Leahy will be a participant in the trial, is not known. He was not called as a witness at the coroner's inquest, following Lassiter's death.

HEAT CAUSES TWO DEATHS IN OMAHA

OMAHA, Neb., June 12.—Some relief was expected today from the intense heat wave, which took two lives here and caused prostration of two other persons. A maximum temperature of 98 degrees was attained at 4 p. m., breaking the former 1926 record by 3 degrees.

Andrew Tomick, 57, a baker, fell over dead in a chair at his room. Death was caused by heart trouble, aggravated by the heat, physicians said.

Hamilton Duffield, 18, was drowned while swimming at a near-by lake.

The Rev. J. B. Cherry, 69, retired minister, who had climbed Pikes peak 76 times, was found unconscious, overcome by the heat, on a downtown street.

Joe Krmas, 40, laborer, remained mentally deranged for an hour after he was overcome while working in a ditch.

Death Caused by Still Explosion

SACRAMENTO, June 12.—Explosion of a still was blamed by deputy sheriffs today for the fire in which T. Turuta, 60, a Japanese, was burned to death, as he slept in his cabin at Elk Grove last night. May was found scattered through the ruins of the house and investigators discovered several 500-gallon vats.

WORK TO BE SENT ON TOUR OF CORN BELT

Interior Secretary Will Act As Missionary for President in Middle West

NO SPEAKING DATES

Cabinet Man Will Try to Sell President's Scheme For Agricultural Relief

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—With the west awakening to the subject of farm relief as never before, a member of the Coolidge cabinet is about to make a swing through the region beyond the Mississippi.

Secretary of the Interior Work starts June 27 on an "inspection trip." He designates his journey as a visit to national parks and Indian reservations, but the politically wise here claim there is something politically more significant in his journey.

They suggest that missionary work on farm relief is the real motive for his "inspection."

Will Check Up Sentiment
He will be able to report, too, the sentiment of the west on things governmental—and political.

Work told the United Press today that he would have no speaking engagements on this trip.

He did not say, however, that he would have no private consultation engagements with leaders and farm folk.

Revelation of plans for his western trip came less than a week after the Brookhart victory in Iowa. The date was not lost on politicians, who suggested Work hoped to quell a reported "corn belt revolt."

To do this, it was suggested that efforts should be made to sell the west on Coolidge's views on farm relief.

Senator Reed, Republican, Ohio, has been giving them for a few days in the senate without labeling them as coming from the White House.

Loans For Farmers
In a word, they are that the farmers should be enabled to have loans from the government—to be repaid—but there should be no attempt to introduce the Haugen equalization fee which, in effect, would make up the difference between home and foreign prices, entailing a heavy drain on the treasury.

The administration has been made uneasy by farm leaders, who demand only the Haugen bill, claiming other plans offer "only a reprieve for farmers to get into debt."

The administration has been further aroused by Vice President Dawes, who not only has approved the Haugen plan, but also is actively advocating it.

Lenroot Quits Haugen Bill
Senator Lenroot, administration Republican, Wisconsin, today broke away from the farm bloc supporting the Dawes-McNary-Haugen farm relief plan, and urged the senate to adopt his substitute bill modeled to conform with Coolidge principles.

Lenroot condemned the Haugen bill as "uneconomic and unconstitutional."

"Instead of aiding the farmers, it would injure them," Lenroot said.

LOADS CARRIED OVER BY-PASS TO BE LIMITED

An emergency ordinance, reducing the load weight limits on trucks and trailers using the by-pass constructed past paying work now in progress in Santa Ana canyon, was adopted by the county supervisors yesterday, at a special meeting, and now is effective.

The ordinance was designed to meet conditions at the by-pass, where traffic has been tied up by heavily laden trucks and trailers which fail to negotiate the by-pass.

When the paving work was started and the by-pass established, warning was issued by J. L. McBride, head of the county highway department, that it would not be capable of handling the larger trucks and trailers. Several truckmen, it is said, have ignored this warning, to their own sorrow and, likewise, to demoralization of traffic.

McBride brought the situation to the attention of the supervisors, who met it with the emergency ordinance, which is authorized under the state motor vehicle law.

The ordinance will be continued in effect during the next 45 days while the by-pass is in use, it is expected. It provides a weight limit of 15,000 pounds gross on trucks and 8000 pounds gross on trailers.

THREE DEPART ON MISSION OF MERCY

SEATTLE, June 12.—Bound on a new mission of mercy, three heroes of the north left Seattle today for Nenana, to take modern medical science to the natives of the great Alaska interior.

This trio includes Miss Mabel Leroy, nurse, who was hero of the rescue of 28 men on the ice-crushed schooner Lady Kindersley, in 1924; Dr. Curtis Welch, renowned for his valiant service during the Nome diphtheria epidemic, and Mrs. Welch, respected as an angel of mercy to sick natives.

This party has completed gathering supplies for the river boat Martha Angeline, now at Nenana, which will become a floating hospital.

The boat will ply during the ice-free seasons through more than 4000 miles of waterways of the Yukon and Nenana rivers to accomplish humanitarian work among Indians and Eskimos of the far north.

ANOTHER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ENTERTAINER DRAWS CRITICAL FIRE

Santa Ana, Calif., June 8, 1926.
Editor Register: The sparkling humor of Burr McIntosh's remarks at the chamber of commerce banquet last night was generally enjoyed and appreciated; and in his serious vein he expressed a number of wholesome sentiments. He is an excellent entertainer. Some of his deliverances, however, illustrated the folly of an entertainer attempting to fill the role of a teacher, they should not be permitted to go unrefuted, and, as a member of the chamber of commerce, I challenge them.

One of his insinuations was that, within the last seven or eight years, criminality had developed in this country by the creation of Hars, sneaks and law violators. The only inference to be drawn from the remark was that the 15th amendment was the guilty culprit. That contention, which has many noisy supporters, is usually made in ignorance of the fact that the greater part of this country was dry before—and much of it long before—the national prohibition amendment was enacted, and that in dry territory like Kansas many of the jails and almshouses were empty, whereas in wet territory like Chicago and Memphis crime was rampant. It is likewise unimpaired of the fact that, coincident with both local option and national prohibition, the passing of the saloon in any territory was immediately followed by greater sales of the better grades of groceries and fresh and canned fruits and vegetables, as well as by augmented sales of women's and children's clothes and shoes and by a marked increase in the percentage of homes acquired by workmen, along with the industrial classes.

The people will not soon forget the impoverished families, or the neglected and terrorized children, of the delirious tremens-afflicted addicts of intoxicating liquor in the ante-prohibition days, and the sad supposition that the 15th amendment will ever be repealed is an unwarranted imputation upon the intelligence and patriotism of the American people. The increase in crime following the war may be attributed to a number of causes, including the war itself. Further, the offenses that may be directly charged to the prohibition laws are committed by a relatively small, pleasure seeking, irresponsible class.

Another erroneous statement of the speaker was that there are 10 times as many preachers of the gospel as actors in our penitentiaries. While the force of that assertion would necessarily depend somewhat upon the comparative number of actors and actors, also upon their comparative direct contact socially and commercially with the general public, yet upon its face the statement is manifestly unfounded and foolish, if it does not savor of calumny. This is said without any reflection upon the profession of players. Many persons now living can remember a number of eminent and talented actors and actresses of high character. Edwin Booth, Lawrence Barrett, John McCullough, Joseph Jefferson, Richard Mansfield, Henry Irving, Charlotte Cushman, Mary Anderson, Adolphe Neilson, Clara Morris, Ethel Barrymore, Ellen Terry, all of whom had illustrious stage careers. Henry Irving was knighted by the queen, in strange contrast to the status of actors in the time of Shakespeare, when they were considered below servants socially, and were by the public generally, and by the law, classed as vagabonds.

Although the spoken drama has rapidly tended recently to become a lost art, yet there is no doubt a number of actors and actresses at this time, who, by their study and work and love for their profession, contribute lustre and refinement to the stage. Still, as a class, actors and actresses are not now present day plays. Still, as a class, actors and actresses are not now present day plays. Still, as a class, actors and actresses are not now present day plays.

The penitentiaries are not exclusive, but have as inmates not only clergymen and actors, but bankers, journalists, lawyers, doctors, and business men, as well as lecturers and authors. That a few of the clergy may be found there does not represent the highest ideals in family and community life; that they have been and are now in the forefront in establishing and maintaining colleges, schools, churches, hospitals and asylums of mercy; that they are religious and moral teachers; that they are closely identified with every movement for the public welfare; and that they are massed against every iniquity.

DEMPSEY SEEKING CHANGE OF VENUE

MADERA, Calif., June 12.—Petitions seeking disqualification of Justice Leroy Bailey, in Madera, were scheduled to be filed today by counsel for Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion. Prejudice by Justice Bailey in saying that Dempsey's chauffeur, Robert Gates, was "not the guiltiest one," was given as cause.

It is expected that the petition will be granted and that Justice Bailey will appoint one of the other three Madera county justices to sit in for him.

Dempsey has signified his willingness to appear for trial either next Monday or on June 21. It is formally charged that Dempsey's car was going 68 miles an hour, while Officer M. A. Harrison declared that at times it was going nearer 80.

Dempsey's chauffeur was fined $50, despite his plea that he was speeding to evade what he thought was an auto bandit. Dempsey and his wife were in the car.

Actress Attempts To Take Own Life

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Alice Adams, 19-year-old musical comedy actress, attempted to commit suicide in her hotel room today by swallowing poison, according to a report of Los Angeles police.

The near tragedy was the result of a blasted love affair, it was said.

Timely action of the hotel clerk in summoning a physician saved the girl's life.

CHURCH NOTABLES IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, June 12.—The greatest gathering of high dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church that New York has ever seen was here today, enroute to the Eucharistic congress, which opens in Chicago, June 20.

The cardinals will rest here until Wednesday, when they will leave for Chicago in a special train. The cars have been finished in cardinal red and each Pullman bears the name of a cardinal.

440-YARD DASH RECORD BROKEN BY BUTLER MAN

SOLDIERS' FIELD, Chicago, June 12.—Capt. Phil Guthrie, of Ohio State, Olympic hurdler, came through to victory in the first event of the National Collegiate Track and Field meet, this afternoon, winning the 150-yard high hurdles with a burst of speed near the finish.

Guthrie's time was 14.8 seconds, not approaching the record, but exceedingly fast, in view of the slow track, which was heavy from a 12-hour rain. Guthrie breasted the tape just ahead of Dye, the Southern California star.

V. H. Phillips, of Butler college, was the first record breaker of the afternoon, turning in a time of 48.7 seconds for the 440-yard run. This broke the previous N. C. A. A. meet record by three-tenths of a second.

Lock Wins 100 Yards

Roland Locke, the spectacular Nebraska sprinter, flashed to victory in the 100-yard dash against a field of the fastest collegian sprinters in the country. The heavy track, however, made it impossible for him to achieve a new world's record—something he had hoped for in this his collegiate appearance on the cinders. His time was 9.9 seconds.

Hester, of Michigan, finished second, and Alderman, the Michigan State star, who broke the collegiate record in yesterday's trials was fourth.

Locke overcame the handicap of the heavy track in the 220-yard dash, however, and set a new N. C. A. A. record of 20.9 seconds, which was one-fifth of a second faster than the old record. The crowd of 10,000 spectators was electrified by the Cornhusker's speed on a track that was anything but desirable.

Spencer, running under the colors of the college of the City of Detroit, set a new N. C. A. A. record in the 220-low hurdles when he won in 23.5 seconds.

Summaries

120 yard high hurdles—Won by Guthrie, Ohio State; Dye, Southern California, second; Werner, Illinois, third; Reynolds, Southern California, fourth; Duren, Tulsa, fifth; Baskin, Alabama Poly, sixth. Time, 14.8 sec.

WOMAN BURNED AS GASOLINE EXPLODES

Mrs. E. A. Cox, 423 South Ross street, was severely burned about the hands, arms and face yesterday, in her home, when a mixture of gasoline and boiling water exploded.

Fire, which started from the explosion, damaged the kitchen of the Cox home. The flames were extinguished by neighbors, with a garden hose, after the window sashes and ceiling were damaged. The curtains were destroyed.

Mrs. Cox was washing lace curtains in her back yard. She brought them into the kitchen and poured boiling water over the gasoline soaked curtains, causing the explosion.

The curtains were destroyed.

Ex-Musical Star Says She's Broke

HOOPER-TRAINED

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Numerous resignations of executives and experts in the department of commerce provoked Secretary Hoover to remark recently that the department had developed into a sort of "post-graduate school for business."

Hoover said 60 men had left the department within the last year to join the staffs of business firms.

HICKSVILLE ALWAYS!

HICKSVILLE, L. I., June 12.—You can't change the name of Hicksville. The village recently voted overwhelmingly against changing the name, although the chamber of commerce, many real estate men and the two weekly newspapers advocated a re-christening.

Deny Reports of Duel In Poland

WARSAW, June 12.—An official denial has been issued of reports that ex-Premier Count Skrzynski and General Count Szeptycki are to meet today in a duel at Cracow. It was stated that the dispute between the two noblemen had been placed before a court of honor and that it was nearing settlement. The former premier has resented General Szeptycki's comments on his attitude in the recent coup d'etat.

WOMAN FAINTS AS HUSBAND IS FOUND GUILTY

A woman fainted and a little, curly haired girl burst into tears when a jury returned a verdict of guilty against F. E. Welch, here today. Welch was being tried on a charge of illegal possession of liquor before Andrew H. Wilson, acting city recorder. Welch was sentenced to pay a $300 fine or spend 150 days in the county jail. He gave notice of appeal of the case.

The wife of the defendant fainted and a doctor was called to revive her following the reading of the verdict of the jury. The little girl, daughter of the defendant, who had sat beside her father during the trial, buried her head in her arms and sobbed aloud at the stern justice of the court.

The scene climaxed one of the most bitterly contested liquor cases ever tried in city courts. For two days, defense attorneys had waged a bitter battle for the freedom of the defendant.

Welch was arrested June 9 by Officers Smith, Smithwick, Jaynes and Hershey. Two pints of alleged liquor was found in Welch's car and several gallons in his home, according to testimony introduced at the trial.

Welch still has a charge of transportation facing him, but it is understood that this charge will be dismissed. He also is reported to be facing charges of manufacture and sale of liquor, preferred by county officials.

Cowboy Airman to Try Unique Stunt

RIVERSIDE, June 12.—Roman C. Warren, cowboy aviator, will attempt a world's air record at the Riverside airport tomorrow, by flying through the Arch Mission bridge, near here.

A Frenchman now holds the international record for flying through the smallest span. If Warren's feat is successful, he will claim the honor. The Riverside bridge is only 18 feet high, and Warren plans to whiz through in his plane at a speed of 120 miles an hour.

A number of wagers have been made that the feat is impossible.

BABY'S CRY STOPS MOTHER'S SUICIDE

The cry of her baby, just as she was ready to leap into the ocean from Balboa pier, halted Mrs. Howard T. James in her plans for self-destruction, according to her most recent statement, in Los Angeles.

On May 28, Mrs. James' coat and two notes were found on the end of Balboa pier. The notes indicated suicide. Later, the woman was located in Los Angeles.

She asserts that she wrote the notes after she reached the pier, and that she was ready to leap into the ocean when her baby boy awakened and started to cry.

"I felt that he needed my care and concluded not to commit suicide," she is alleged to have declared in Los Angeles.

She said she went from Balboa to the home of a friend, in Long Beach, where she remained a few days, and then went to Los Angeles.

Mrs. James declared that she never will return to her husband, who is a member of the Los Angeles fire department.

VETERAN FINDS LONG LOST KIN IN SOUTHLAND

Albert Payne has found his brother, Edgar Alwin Payne, and his sister, Mrs. J. V. Durrenberger, after having been separated from them since 1918, when he left Houston, Texas, for the western front. Edgar Alwin Payne, a prominent artist in the Southland, Mrs. Durrenberger lives on a ranch, near Hemet.

After the war, the brother and sister waited month after month for the return of their brother. No government agency had any record of him. No one knew what had become of him, but there were thousands of such disappearances as the result of the war.

Edgar A. Payne came to the west coast, assisted in organizing the Laguna Beach Art association and became one of the leading painters of this section. His pictures were put on exhibition in various places. A Los Angeles newspaper carried an article about Payne and his pictures and the paper fell into the hands of Albert Payne, who had gone to his old home town, in Texas, to look for the brother and sister.

He lost no time in getting to Southern California and today he is back with his own folk.

But as for what occurred during the time he was gone—hospitals, long months of treatment, surgeons in their long, white gowns—all that is forgotten in the glories of Southern California and the joy of reunion with his brother and sister.

The war is over, but the Albert Paynes are still coming home, coming home.

CALLING OF ANOTHER BOND ELECTION FOR HARBOR IS LEGAL, VIEW OF TALBERT

No legal obstacle stands in the way of the county board of supervisors calling another election at any time for harbor bonds, it was declared by T. B. Talbert, chairman of the board, in a discussion of the failure of the bonds Thursday, at the meeting yesterday of the Santa Ana Realty board.

The board chairman declared he believed that the bonding proposition could be put over were another election called in the immediate future. He pointed out that improvement of the harbor is a county-wide matter and voiced sentiment against any attempt at creation of a harbor district or development of any other plan to raise funds for the improvement.

Appropriation Is Possible
Pointing out that the board in the last three years has spent nearly $1,000,000 in building the Hall of Records, the county jail and in other county work without voting bonds, Talbert said it was possible the county could appropriate for harbor work $150,000 from general funds the coming fiscal year. He said this probably could be done for a series of years, but emphasized the fact that, under this plan, it would take a number of years to complete even the harbor entrance work.

H. H. Crooke, mayor of Fullerton, and Frank Purinton, mayor of Santa Ana, were guests of the realty board, and expressed belief that bonds later could be voted for the harbor. Others entering into the discussion of the failure of the bonds and the situation developed were John Knox, Herbert Allemen, Freeman H. Bloodgood, Harry Welch and Horace Fine.

Appreciation Expressed
John Knox, as chairman of the "get out the vote committee," expressed to the realtors and others who assisted the committee, his high appreciation of the valuable services rendered.

Knox said that his committee and other workers felt that a victory had been won, even in the defeat of the bonds.

"The election very definitely developed the fact that a good majority of the voters want the harbor improvement," Knox said. "The campaign also developed the fact that there are in the county many persons who believed in the harbor, but who felt that water bonds should be voted first."

Water Development Needed
"While it is true that water development for the county is important and necessary, I feel that it would have been good business policy to have voted the harbor bonds and have the port proposition well on the way to completion by the time water bonds could be voted. An improved harbor, with a port at which yachts could register and industrials could be located, would help materially in creating new assessed valuations that would have helped in carrying the tax load for both harbor and water."

"It is the hope of the committee and the active harbor bond workers that all classes will give full and hearty support to a water bond proposition when it is submitted."

GREGG ISSUES STATEMENT ON AID QUESTION

County Aid Commissioner Walter S. Gregg today issued a statement, explaining why the county supervisors, upon his recommendation, have not taken over activities of the Crippled Children's Relief association, as recently requested by that organization.

In his statement, Gregg points out what he says sundry statements from the relief association have ignored, namely, that the supervisors are prevented by law from expending public funds upon other than indigent cases. The county, he states, could not legally appropriate funds for purchasing braces, board and lodging, or otherwise financing treatment of patients not rated as indigents. And the county, he says, already is caring for all indigent cases brought to its attention.

Referred to Committee
When the Crippled Children's Relief association presented its request for financial aid from the county a short time ago, the supervisors referred the question to a committee consisting of Gregg, as chairman; Dr. H. E. Zaiser, county hospital superintendent, and Dr. V. G. Presson, health officer. The committee split on its recommendations, both physicians approving the requests made by the relief association, and Gregg recommending contrary action.

His recommendation is explained in the following statement: "In reply to an article in The Register of June 10, concerning the failure of the county supervisors to take action on recommendations submitted by Dr. H. E. Zaiser and V. G. Presson, of the county health service, in which the county would take over most of the activities of the Crippled Children's Relief association, I wish to make the following statement in defense of my attitude, based upon my personal investigations and knowledge of conditions:

"In the first place, the county contract would only be with indigent orthopaedic cases. The county health nurses already are reporting cases of crippled children as they find them. The county is furnishing a room and equipment for clinic cases, investigating these cases and is ready to pay for all indigent cases but there are not enough indigent cases in this county to warrant the establishing of a full-fledged orthopaedic institution.

Recent County Relation
"My personal investigations of a number of cases reveal the fact that while the people were in very moderate circumstances, they resented any county relation to assistance, whatever. There is no personal feeling in this matter. It is strictly from a standpoint of my belief and knowledge of the work, and I see no reason for Orange county to build up a business to care for people from other states, of whom there are hordes looking our way.

"If, as suggested by the Crippled Children's Relief association, the county pays for the nurse, pays for braces, board and lodging of non-resident cripples, pays for investigation of cases and pays for reporting cases to the association, what would be left for the association to do?

"We do not question the expenditure of funds of the association, but the law states definitely what the county tax funds shall be spent for."

In 1921, and separated last February 11. They have two children and own a home at 832 South Claudine street, Anaheim. Attorneys Bishop and Wellington and O. A. Jacobs, of Santa Ana, are counsel for the plaintiff.

Alleges Non-Support
Addie Sue Tucker, of Santa Ana, is plaintiff in a divorce suit just filed in superior court against Albert J. Tucker, whom she charges with non-support and infidelity. Attorney T. T. Clark represents the plaintiff.

The Tuckers were married in Dallas, Texas, August 17, 1920, and separated in Santa Ana last November 19, according to the divorce petition. They have no children and no community property, it states.

In her complaint, Mrs. Tucker declares that her husband failed to support her and she was forced to seek employment when she was not physically able to work. She also accuses him of having frequented the society of other women.

$896.12 Judgment Asked
Judgment for $896.12 is asked by George E. Lynch in a suit filed in superior court against P. J. Weisel. The claim is based on an alleged contract by which Lynch built for Weisel a mill for screening sand.

CONTRAST AUTOS WITH OX TEAMS

TRUCKEE, Calif., June 12.—When a great caravan of motor cars, headed by Gov. Friend William Richardson and Chairman Harvey M. Toy, of the California highway commission, passed through here Thursday for the dedication of the Truckee River highway, the oldest of the community's pioneers recalled long lines of ox teams and prairie schooners that blazed this route into California even before the days of the gold rush.

The few minutes in which the modern motor cars were whirled over the new water-level highway that connects this city with Reno, Nev., and the east, was in marked contrast to the days of struggling when the emigrant trains reached the Dog Valley summit and the Donner grade, barriers which have added sad pages to California history.

Now, 80 years after the Donner tragedy, the Dog Valley summit has been eliminated forever by the road through the canyon and the Donner grade is crossed by a wide, smooth highway on easy grades that most cars take in high gear.

The new canyon highway, just officially opened to traffic, is the most important improvement yet completed by California on the route of the old Overland trail and the most striking feature of the Victory highway since the building of the Wendover cutoff in western Utah.

MASTER BARBERS TO FORM ASSOCIATION

Plans for organizing a master barbers' association in the southern part of the county will be discussed at a preliminary meeting next Monday night, in Ketner's cafe, it was announced today by Carl M. Becker, proprietor of the National Barber shop and member of the committee on organization.

According to Becker, a general invitation has been extended to all master barbers and proprietors of shops to attend the meeting.

A similar organization already has been formed in the northern part of the county, it was declared.

COUNTY MEAT CARRIERS MUST BE KEPT CLEAN

As a result of complaints received from private citizens protesting against the dirty condition of certain meat trucks entering the county, in some instances with the meat left uncovered, there will be a concentrated drive against the owners and drivers of such vehicles, it was announced today by Dr. John H. Bower, county veterinary surgeon and chief met inspector of the county health service.

Several drivers of meat trucks have been warned against infractions of the sanitary laws, which require that meat trucks shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition, and furthermore require that meat transported in such vehicles shall be properly covered up. Already one truck driver, employed by a large Los Angeles packing house, has been arrested for repeated violations of these laws.

According to a report prepared by Dr. Bower, there were 3874 pounds of meat condemned in the county during the month of May. The total quantity of meat condemned was distributed as follows:

Cattle, 2915 lbs.; hogs, 350 lbs.; beef heads, 80 lbs.; hog heads, 6 lbs.; livers, 242 lbs.

DEFEATING TRIALS: JOSEPH'S FIDELITY

Text: Genesis 39:1-6; 19-23

And Joseph was brought down to Egypt; and Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh, captain of the guard, an Egyptian, bought him of the hands of the Ishmaelites, which had brought him down thither.

And the Lord was with Joseph and he was a prosperous man; and he was in the house of his master the Egyptian.

And his master saw that the Lord was with him, and that the Lord made all that he did to prosper in his hand.

And Joseph found grace in his sight, and he served him; and he made him overseer over his house, and all that he had he put into his hand.

And it came to pass, from the time that he had made him overseer in his house, and over all that he had, that the Lord blessed the Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake; and the blessing of the Lord was upon all that he had in the house, and in the field.

And he left all that he had in Joseph's hand; and he knew not ought he had, save the bread which he did eat. And Joseph was a goodly person, and well-favored.

And it came to pass, when his master heard the words of his wife which she spake unto him, saying, After this manner did thy servant to me, that his wrath was kindled.

And Joseph's master took him, and put him into the prison, a place where the king's prisoners were bound; and he was there in the prison.

But the Lord was with Joseph, and showed him mercy, and gave him favor in the sight of the keeper of the prison.

And the keeper of the prison committed to Joseph's hand all the prisoners that were in the prison; and whatsoever they did there, he was the doer of it.

The keeper of the prison looked not to anything that was under his hand; because the Lord was with him, and that which he did, the Lord made it to prosper.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist
Many years ago I heard an able public reader recite without comment the whole story of Joseph as recorded in the Authorized King James Version. My recollection is that it occupied about ten chapters of Genesis, and it was one of the most moving experiences that I have ever had.

I had read the story many times, mostly a chapter at a time, and I never realized until then just how wonderful a story it was from every point of view.

The ancient writer who wrote it has availed himself of every literary device to make the high lights of his story and the emphasis of its deepest teachings conspicuous. It is a story of effective contrasts and logical development.

I recommend to every one who would gain the full benefit of the story the need of sitting down and reading the entire story at one sitting. Only in this way can the full value of any particular incident in the life of Joseph be realized in relation to the whole.

The Favored Son

Seen in this complete form, the story of Joseph is a remarkable tale of strength, courage and con-stanty. Joseph appears at first, it is true, as a dreamer, the favored child of his father, a sort of family pet who offends his brothers by a too-ready acceptance of this favoritism and by an attitude of superiority.

Probably much of this was the thoughtless attitude of a young boy.

The real strength of Joseph and the stability of his character come out under adversity. If he had been merely a petted child or a milkop, the experiences that came upon him would very quickly have broken him down. But we have the picture of a young man of courage who, in the midst of the darkest environment, trusted in God.

The trials that came upon Joseph need not have been summarized. There came to him through the conquest of these trials the place of preferment and power, and then in the midst of his seeming success came one of the most violent and characteristic temptations that could shake a man's integrity. Here again, however, Joseph showed himself the master, and though his conquest of temptation led him to outward disgrace and prison, he had the joy of an unswerving conscience and that satisfaction which no outward

Mother of Bride Bids Intimate Friends to Trousseau Tea

ALTHOUGH unable to learn any details of the wedding, close friends of the Paul and Brown families were aware that Miss Mildred Paul, charming young daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, was today bride of Felton Brown, son of Mrs. P. B. Brown.

Betrothal of the young people has been of keen interest to friends who have watched the romance bud and blossom, and have seen, in the marriage, a union of two of the county's most prominent families. Miss Paul just completed her course at University of California where she was among the members of her sorority (Alpha Pi Delta) who confessed their engagements at the Easter vacation.

Since her return home some two weeks ago, Miss Paul has been the center of interest among her friends and has been complacently at various charming parties including teas, dinners and showers.

As a return hospitality for those who have delighted to honor her, her mother, Mrs. J. E. Paul, recently presented a friendly little trousseau tea as one of the final events of the wedding day.

To this only the very close friends of the bride with a sprinkling of matrons, asked by Mrs. Paul to enjoy the gay gathering, were invited. It was staged, of course, at the suburban home of the Pauls near Tustin, and in honor of the event, the gardens surrounding the home, were robbed of their gayest flowers that the house might be gay and colorful.

The tea table where Miss Minnie Childs presided behind the silver urn, rivaled a rainbow in the soft colors of its flowers. The dainties served with the fragrant tea, were dispensed by the Misses Marion Crookshank and Helen Sibbach.

Of supreme interest to the guests, was the opportunity to inspect the array of lovely things assembled for the bride's trousseau, including even the exquisite gown which she was to don today for the bridal event itself.

Piano Recital

Miss Carolyn Haughton "Make of life one glad song," the caption on the printed programs of a recital in which Miss Carolyn Haughton presented her Junior piano pupils Thursday night was certainly illustrated in delightful fashion by the small people themselves whose music sounded a harmonious note at the Chandler music room.

They were all very young players, several of them, Charlotte Mock, Marian Pletke, Geraldine Gilbert, and Marian Doty, being barely seven years old, while the oldest was but a very few years beyond that. Charlotte played a Behr "Barcarolle" and a two-number group, "Chasing Butterflies" (Smith) and "Indian Dance" (Kroeger); Marian Pletke played "The White Kitten" by Erb and two Bilbro numbers, "Waltz" and "The Picnic"; Geraldine played "The Brownie Dance" and "Lullaby" by Margaret Martin and Marian Doty played a Grieg waltz and took part in a duet "The Bird Song" by Erb with Barbara Rowland.

Virginia Congdon played "Knight Rupert" by Schumann very nicely and Jack McCarty was equally good in his rendering of Beethoven's "Minuet in G." Aileen Adams showed excellent quality in Heller's "Curious Story." In fact every child's performance was really delightful work, which was greatly enjoyed by the audience of friends and relatives.

One of Miss Veda Mitchell's young pupils, Franklin Munselle, also appeared on the program with two numbers, "The Pony Race" by Krugman and "Midnight Elvies" by Bilbro. Franklin's teacher, Miss Mitchell, is one of Miss Haughton's advanced pupils and one of the most accomplished of the city's younger musicians.

The other children giving such interesting numbers included Bob Smith, Mary Majors, Harriet Susan Bryan, Elizabeth Hewett, Nellie Cribaro, Helen Bennett, James Decker, Beth Dickinson, Donald Lentz, Evelyn Brannon, Barbara Rowland, Asa Hoffman, Ruby Moore, Margaret Scott, Vivian Westbrook, Mary Anna Weaver and Bobby Brown.

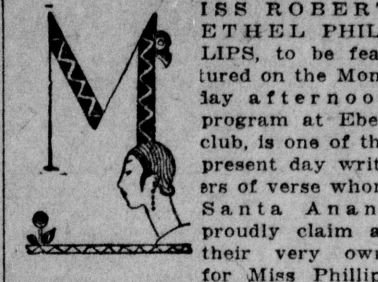

One of the most interesting features of the evening, and one which was a complete surprise to Miss Haughton, was the presentation to her of a cluster of lovely flowers and a very beautiful picture for her studio, the gift of the parents of the young people.

Mrs. Richard Cribaro made the friendly little presentation speech.

Ebell Society to Hear Miss Ethel Phillips Monday Afternoon

MISS ROBERT ETHEL PHILLIPS, to be featured on the Monday afternoon program at Ebell club, is one of the present day writers of verse whom Santa Anans proudly claim as their very own.

Miss Phillips has spent the greater part of her life in the vicinity of Santa Ana and Tustin.

On Monday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock, she will talk on Modern Poetry as the June Ebell program, illustrating her theme with examples of verse from the most noted writers of the day, and using many of her own poems, notably the trilogy, "Roofs."

For a number of years, Miss Phillips has been connected with the Cumnock School of Expression in Los Angeles, where talents have slowly ripened, to burst into full fruit during the past year when she spent mainly at Laguna Beach, in the sea-side cottage of her brother, Ernest Crosier Phillips.

When Katherine Lipke, feature writer on the Los Angeles Times, and a capable critic whose judgment may be relied on, learned that Miss Phillips was to appear before Ebell members, she wrote to Mrs. Clarence Gustlin, chairman of the program committee, congratulating her warmly upon the choice.

"I had known through a long acquaintance with Miss Phillips, that she had an extraordinary love for beauty; therefore was not surprised at her verse," she wrote, continuing with "in her poems on thoughts and people, I feel that she has done something truly great. The lines are so stripped of unnecessary language and so filled with strength that that are powerful and beautiful."

Guest privileges will be recognized Monday, as it is felt that non-members who are personal friends of Miss Phillips, will welcome the opportunity to hear her.

Household Economics

The second household economics section of Ebell society brought its season's activities to a close in a delightful manner with a dinner for section husbands at the Ebell clubhouse, Wednesday evening.

Dinner was served at small tables in the lounge, which was attractively decorated with baskets of flowers gathered from the gardens of the members of the committee in charge. Table center-pieces of mixed flowers added to the charm of the scene.

Dinner was served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Fred Rowland, Mrs. Jack Olivari, Mrs. W. L. Grubb, Mrs. E. H. Rowland, Mrs. M. A. Patton, Mrs. A. M. O'Brien, and Mrs. Ray Miles. There were present twenty-three members and their husbands, besides three guests, Mrs. Claude Killen, Miss Ninette Rowland and Dana Lamb.

A short business meeting was called following the dinner. The retiring leader, Mrs. Bruce Monroe, turned the affairs of the section over to the new officers, Mrs. A. G. Flag, leader; Mrs. Jack Olivari, assistant leader; Mrs. George Miles, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Flag announced the committees for the year, after which the business meeting adjourned for the evening's entertainment.

Ray Miles sang a group of songs, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Rowland. The evening was spent at bridge, the prizes being awarded to Miss Ninette Rowland and A. G. Flag for high scores.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Spurgeon Missionary

Taking their keynote, the quotation "One remembers the man who, when asked why there is so little happiness in the world, replied that it is because there are so few people engaged in its manufacture," members of the Spurgeon Missionary society in a group meeting Wednesday at the church parlors, learned that 191 foreign missionaries and 92 deaconesses were engaged in the "manufacture of happiness" under the auspices of the Southern Methodist church.

The business meeting of the organization was conducted by the president, Mrs. B. W. Glasner with the Bible lesson conducted by Mrs. A. A. Jones quoting from Luke 12: 13 to 27, and the question discussed, "If Jesus came to-day, would we find Him congenial as our business?" In a social service discussion, the topic was "What is the moral and spiritual effect of motion pictures on the youth of our country?"

Mrs. Lillie Hamilton, delegate to the Los Angeles School of Missions, held the interest of all with her talk in which she urged the society to send more delegates to the school next year.

First M. E. Dorcas

Mrs. R. T. Brown and Mrs. W. F. Kistinger were hostesses to the Dorcas society of First M. E. church on Friday afternoon at Mrs. Brown's. There were 22 members and friends and several children present. The calendar of hostesses for the coming year was read and Mrs. G. E. Bruns, president of the general Aid brought a pleasant greeting to the society.

Following the business session, there was an exchange of gifts and a social time, during which delicious refreshments were served.

The Newton Richards Now Honeymooning In the North

ONEYMOONING "somewhere in California," Mr. and Mrs. Newton Richards are being followed by the happy wishes of the friends who were familiar with their plans to have an extremely quiet wedding on Wednesday, June 9, in Santa Barbara and then, enjoy a motor honeymoon through the northern part of the state.

Mrs. Richards was Miss Anna-Grace McElree and her betrothal to Mr. Richards was announced in the early spring coincident with that of Miss Kathleen Trago and Paul Wallace, who preceded them in matrimony by only a few weeks. Miss McElree was honor maid at their formal church wedding, but decided to forego a big wedding and have instead, the quiet ceremony of Wednesday. This was held at the Christian church in Santa Barbara with the pastor, the Rev. F. E. Cochran, officiating.

Miss McElree's Titian tresses and lovely coloring found perfect setting in her chic apricot crepe de chine gown, fashioned in two-piece style and worn with a fetching little hat, white coat, shoes, hosiery and gloves.

After their northern honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Richards will establish their home in Los Angeles where Mr. Richards is one of the city's prominent young architects.

Pre-nuptial Courtesy.

ANY gay parties were planned to compliment Wednesday's bride.

Miss Anna-Grace McElree, who on numerous occasions shared special honors with Miss Kathleen Trago, now Mrs. Wallace. The most recent event was her wedding, which was just a day or two before her wedding and was a bridge tea presented at Santa Ana Country club by Mrs. Raymond Crenshaw.

The group of pretty girls and young matrons formed a lovely picture against the background of pastel tinted flowers with which Mrs. Crenshaw chose to deck the clubhouse. Bridge was introduced at once, after guests had been greeted by their hostess and the honoree.

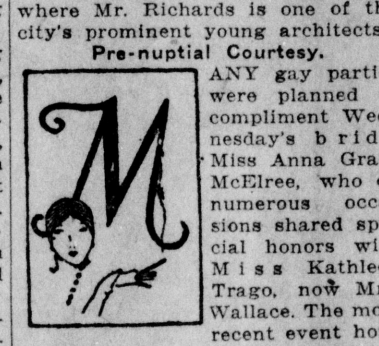

Prizes were extremely attractive, a half-dozen green crystal salad plates rewarding Miss Miriam Baird, holder of high score. Miss Glenna-Jean Hill, second high, received a Dresden powder box while smart stationery consoled Mrs. Jack Remsburg for her low score.

As guest prize, Mrs. Crenshaw presented Miss McElree with a dainty trousseau set of garters, lingerie straps and French flowers.

At the tea hour, chicken salad with ribbon sandwiches and tea formed the first course of delectable refreshments, followed by ice cream in pastel tints to harmonize with flowers in green, blue, pink and yellow.

Used to center the table, with the ice were served petite fours in the same tints.

Members of Family Are Guests at Dinner in Home of Parents

ATHERING their children and grandchildren together for a happy family party are the departure of one son and his family for an eastern motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bruns were dinner hosts last night at their home, 1209 Spurgeon street.

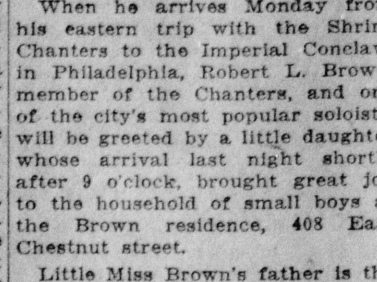

Special tastes of each member of the group were remembered in planning the dinner menu, and Mrs. Bruns offered four courses of favorite dishes of all, in the enjoyable session around the family board. Golden tinted pom-pom dahlias were used to brighten the scene and surrounding the table where Mr. and Mrs. Bruns presided, were Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bruns and daughter, Helen Bell Bruns, of Anaheim, honoree; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bruns, also of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cribaro and daughter, Nellie, and Mr. and Mrs. Plummer Bruns and little daughter, Virginia Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bruns and their young daughter, will start tomorrow on their motor trip back to Hannibal, Mo., and the dinner party was the final "get-together" of the congenial family group until their return after an extended visit in the east.

Little New "Chanter" Will Greet Return Of Her Daddy

When he arrives Monday from his eastern trip with the Shrine Chanters to the Imperial Conclave in Philadelphia, Robert L. Brown, member of the Chanters, and one of the city's most popular soloists, will be greeted by a little daughter whose arrival last night shortly after 9 o'clock, brought great joy to the household of small boys at the Brown residence, 408 East Chestnut street.

Little Miss Brown's father is the owner of the Santa Ana bookstore and her ancestry is pure Scotch, since both father and mother hail directly from Scotland. Her "big" brothers, Masters Bobbie, Matthew and David, are excitedly awaiting the arrival of their father Monday, to display the wonderful new sister.

Brightly tinted flowers used in profusion, made the home a pleasant spot in which to enjoy a spirited game of bridge, and the greater number of the guests sought places around the seven tables provided. Others who preferred informal chat over their needlework, formed a congenial little group in one room.

Late in the afternoon, scores were totaled and an attractive prize presented Mrs. C. E. Moore, winner of the series. A similar gift was awarded Mrs. M. C. Hoyt of the needlework group, in a system of drawing. Early the gay party disbanded, the hostesses arranged the card tables attractively with linens and flowers and served ice cream, cake and coffee.

Series of Gay Affairs Given to Compliment Travelers Abroad

ONE OF the most enjoyable in a series of friendly parties honoring Miss Jennie Lasby and Miss Lulu Minter ere their departure for European travels which each will enjoy this summer, occurred Thursday evening when the Misses Grace Roberts and Mame Havens, close friends of the two honorees, presented a perfectly appointed dinner at their home, 407 West Sixth street.

Guests were a small group of close friends of the two travelers-to-be who have enjoyed a succession of hospitalities together, running the gamut of luncheons, dinners and evening gatherings. In all the events, the travel idea has been dominant, and at one recent party, each member of the group wrote steamer letters to be opened in mid-ocean.

At the Thursday function, the table where a delectable dinner was served, presented an attractive appearance, with its centerpiece of a great ship with golden masts and tiny ships at each place, holding in addition to the customary nuts and bonbons, wee woolly dogs to serve as mascots. Throughout the dinner hour and the merry evening which followed, mysterious packages found their way to the two guests of honor, each package being wrapped and tied just to fit in the luggage of the two travelers.

Enjoying the dinner and the subsequent friendly evening in the flower-decked home were the hostesses, Miss Roberts and Miss Havens, their honorees, Miss Lasby and Miss Minter, Miss Gertrude Minor and Miss Ida Nay.

Spray Citrus Trees Now

Spray your citrus trees now with VOLCK, while the scale is small and most easily and economically controlled. Early control also prevents the pest from devastating the trees and robbing them of the starches and sugars needed to put size and quality into the fruit.

VOLCK KILLS CITRUS SCALE

Mid-summer scale control has been made possible by this unique material, which has a margin of safety several hundred percent greater than any other spray, and can be safely applied any time of year. VOLCK kills Black Scale, Red Scale, Purple Scale, Yellow Scale, Citricola Scale, Mealy Bug, and most other citrus insect pests, and is especially valuable in the eradication of Red Spider. It is a spray of the "quick-breaking" type, and quickly covers the sprayed surface with a uniform oily film, which saturates and penetrates both egg and adult with deadly effectiveness, and greatly retards reinfestation.

For clean thrifty trees and maximum production of fancy fruit spray with VOLCK and spray early.

AID FOR CHILD CRIPPLES MAY BE SUSPENDED

Unless financial aid to carry on its humanitarian work is forthcoming within the next few weeks, the Crippled Children's Relief association, of Orange county may be forced to suspend its activities pending further arrangements for raising necessary funds.

According to a report read at the regular board meeting, held yesterday afternoon at the Anaheim Elks' club, there was an unexpended balance of $67.23 on the books at the end of last month. Against this amount there were outstanding liabilities, amounting to more than $200, which left a deficit of about $130.

May Reject Cases
As the first result of the deficit now facing the association, it might be necessary, though against the wishes of the men and women supporting the association, to turn down a number of deserving cases. It was declared, as there is no money on hand for the purchase of braces, artificial limbs and other supplies incidental to treatment.

President Harry D. Riley, presided over the meeting which, in addition to directors and committee chairmen, was attended by a number of visitors, including several well known clubwomen interested in child welfare.

The situation now facing the association did not come as a surprise, however, it was explained by the officers. Anticipating an eventual shortage, caused by increased demands, taking over some adult cases which otherwise would not have been attended to, the association several months ago petitioned the county supervisors for financial aid.

Board Takes No Action
Such aid, with certain limitations, was recommended by Dr. H. E. Zaiser, superintendent of the county hospital, and Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer. No action has been taken on these recommendations by the supervisors.

To provide against future contingencies, it was decided at yesterday's meeting to present a formal request for participation in the Santa Ana Community Chest for the ensuing year. The Santa Ana chest organization will be asked to contribute $1000 of a total requirement of $6000 for the entire county. Of the total sum, Fullerton will be called upon for $1000, Anaheim for a similar amount, Huntington Beach for $500, the remaining $1500 to be made up by the smaller communities.

The report of the superintendent disclosed that, last month, the association handled 32 active cases.

Director Resigns
The resignation of Carl F. Leonard, well known Anaheim business man, who has been serving as director, was accepted with regrets. Leonard was elected city trustee at the election held recently in Anaheim.

Among those present were Miss E. Kate Rea, Anaheim; Miss Grace W. Bailey, Anaheim; Mrs. T. McCadden, Piacentia; Mrs. C. Good Adams, Santa Ana; Miss Henrietta Hays, Fullerton; Mrs. W. T. Wallop, Anaheim; Mrs. John Ruether, Anaheim; and Mrs. Gertrude Crowell, superintendent, Fullerton.

Motorbike Sheik Makes Too Much Noise for Sleep

What residents of the Parsons apartments thought was a nightly parade of automobiles turned out to be a "sheik" on a motorcycle, it was revealed today.

Recently, residents of the apartment complained to the police department that automobiles, with open cutouts, kept them awake.

Police were ordered to stop the noise, which disturbed the slumbers of the apartment house dwellers.

They found that all the racket came from the exhaust of a lone motorcycle, its owner bent, not on eating, but on seeing the lady of his dreams.

Now the modern sheik on wheels coasts quietly into the yard and patrons of the apartment house are not awakened.

Four Defendants In Alleged Oil Fraud to Appear

Four defendants, indicted by the Los Angeles county grand jury in connection with alleged embezzlement of funds invested in the Pacific corporation, at Signal Hill, by Orange county ranchers, are scheduled to appear in superior court, Los Angeles, Monday, to enter pleas to the charge.

The defendants are Jerome L. Richardson, Riverside attorney; B. R. Parrot and Herman Fischer, who controlled affairs of the Pacific corporation at various times, and M. Fleming, associate of Fischer.

The indictments, which were returned June 7, were based upon a transaction in which A. W. Leitch, C. O. Field, W. A. Knuth, G. G. Beckman, W. B. Lamb and other Orange county residents placed $30,000 in cash and securities with Thompson well No. 16, at Signal Hill.

The investors charged that they did not receive the production interest nor were the funds returned to them.

Graduates from Southern Branch

Included among those receiving their diplomas at yesterday's graduation exercises at the southern branch of the University of California was Gerald Mitchell, son of County Superintendent and Mrs. R. P. Mitchell, of this city. Having completed a four-year course, he was awarded an A. B. degree. Young Mitchell is a graduate of the Santa Ana high school. With the opening of the new term next August, he will take up post graduate work in Berkeley.

ASK MILLIONS IN SUITS FOR SHIP SEIZURES

By C. C. DODDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 12.—More than $2,700,000 is involved in 119 cases filed in the U. S. court at San Francisco, asking damages for the illegal seizure of sealing vessels by the government during the 10-year period ended in 1898.

These figures were given out by the department of justice in announcing that nine additional cases have been filed.

The amount involved in the new claims is approximately $350,000.

Twenty of the sealing cases have been decided and decreed ended in the amount of $608,115. No appeal has been taken by the government in any of these 20 judgments.

The United States is the last government to settle with the sealers whose boats were seized without warrant of law between 30 and 40 years ago. Russia and England settled with their own nationals many years ago. These two countries also settled long ago with the nationals of each other and with the Americans whose boats they seized. Likewise, the United States paid out damages to the owners of Russian and English boats seized, but it has not until this date settled with its own citizens.

Some of the beneficiaries are in the poorhouses of San Francisco and Alameda county. Many have died in poverty and their heirs will benefit from Uncle Sam's tardy relief.

Oklahoma members of the house are carrying their opposition to the Barbour bill, changing the name and the boundary of Sequoia National park, into the senate, where the bill is now. Representative Hastings appeared before the senate public lands committee providing against the change in name of the park on the ground that it was named after Chief Sequoyah, the inventor of the Cherokee alphabet. He said he thought former President Roosevelt had been honored enough without changing the name of Sequoia park to Roosevelt-Sequoia National park. Hastings also urged that the spelling of the word "Sequoia" be changed to conform to the spelling of the chief's name, "Sequoyah."

Representative Barbour, of Fresno, objected to amending the bill to eliminate the name Roosevelt and he also objected to changing the spelling of the word Sequoia. He pointed out that the park was named after the giant trees in California.

Senator Shortridge supported the Fresno congressman, as did officials from the national park service.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has received tentative assurance from the coast guard that every effort will be made to have three or four of the new coast guard boats, recently authorized, built on the west coast, where they are expected to be stationed permanently. While the money for the new boats has not been appropriated, it is expected to be in the forthcoming deficiency bill. As soon as the money is available, coast guard officials intend to call for bids at the earliest possible date. In view of the fact that California has the only shipbuilding yards capable of building the new cutters, it is probable that all of the west coast boats will be built in that state.

Hearings will begin June 21 on the application of California magnesite producers for an increase on the tariff on crude magnesite and caustic calcined magnesite.

California produces considerably more than one-half of the magnesite mined in the United States. While some tariff protection was obtained in the Fordney bill amounting to five-sixteenths of a cent a pound for the crude and five-eighths of a cent a pound for the caustic calcined magnesite, the rate was not fixed high enough, as is shown by the increase in importations.

More than two-thirds of all the magnesite now used in the United States is imported from abroad, principally from India and Greece, so that one by one the magnesite mines in the west have been closing down until only a scattered few remain.

Magnesite is used largely in the manufacture of stucco, which is growing in importance as American building material. This fact was recognized by the tariff commission in its report, following a preliminary investigation, which resulted in the decision to hold a hearing and to go into the matter thoroughly.

Lawlessness among California corporations is too remote to need the immediate supervision of an assistant attorney general. In San Francisco to enforce the Sherman anti-trust law. This was the explanation given by the department of justice in closing the branch office at San Francisco on May 23.

The anti-trust section of the department of justice office opened in San Francisco in 1923, to keep a closer eye on west coast violators of the Sherman law. It began with a staff of seven special attorneys and a corps of investigators and stenographers. After an experience of two years, the attorney general concluded that the results obtained were not commensurate with the cost required to maintain the organization. The force has gradually been reduced until, on the date of its final elimination, only one attorney remained.

The cost of maintaining the original office was about $40,000 a year, all of which will be saved.

The motor bus associations of California are protesting vigorously against the passage of the house of senate bill No. 3894, which provides for the regulation of traffic over the new Philadelphia - Camden bridge and through the New York City-New Jersey tunnel.

While the west coast operators are not affected in the slightest way by the bill, they assert a principle is involved, which, if followed by congress, may concern their interests adversely in the future. The bill merely provides that a bus company must obtain a certificate of convenience from the proper authorities in the states in which they operate over the bridge and through the tunnel before they can carry passengers for hire. Busses that would use the ferry systems now in operation would not be affected, which is the objectionable feature of the bill, as called to the attention of the California delegation.

The bill passed the senate without objection and was expected to pass the house unanimously as well until the west coast bus protests arrived. Congressman Lea, of California, who is on the committee considering the bill, is doubtful now whether the house will pass the bill.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 12, 1926

NIGHT TRAFFIC IS MANAGED BY SINGLE LIGHT AUTO DRIVERS

Operation of Car on Road After Dark Now Painful Task, Declares Engineer

BLINDING GLARE ADDS TO HAZARD

Correct Conditions Could Raise Saturation Point To 40 Million Machines

More than 40 million cars can be put into daily service in the United States just as soon as the main travel arteries are widened and night driving has been made safe and attractive, in the opinion of one nationally known automotive engineer.

According to this authority:

"If every driver in America had his car equipped with the right kind of lens and the little show-light indicator that tells the driver when his lamps are on or off, night driving, which is now positively painful because of glare and the Dead-Eye Dick fellows, who drive with only one lamp burning, would be a real pleasure. Once this has been brought about, the saturation point can be raised to 40,000,000 cars. Already European nations are giving a 10 per cent discount on insurance premiums to drivers who use the right kind of lenses, and the United States will doubtless do the same thing when American motorists follow the example of English, French and Belgian drivers."

That night driving can be greatly improved is fully realized by every motorist who has ever found himself on the road after dark. The blinding glare of approaching cars adds to the mental strain of driving, lowers the efficiency of the driver's vision and greatly increases all hazards. Particularly is this true when an approaching motorist has, either unconsciously or intentionally, only one lamp burning. As the above authority pointed out:

"The effect of the best lens on earth is nullified when only one lamp is burning. Single light drivers are a growing menace to all after-dark motorists."

The truth of this statement readily will be acknowledged by all. However, so many experts and engineers have chased the saturation point "will-of-the-wisp" that one is reminded of the experience of the late Mr. Ingersoll, the watchmaker. When Ingersoll finally had perfected his watch and was seeking to interest financial backing for his contemplated factory, he said:

"If I could only turn out 100 watches a day, I could sell them

Valley Bridge Jobs Given Holtville Man

The state highway commission has awarded Norman B. Conway, Holtville, the contract for erection of timber trestle bridges across New River and Tamarac and Trifolium canals, in the Imperial valley. The cost will be $14,198.50. R. H. Travers was given the contract for building stairways to connect the beach with the Rincon sea walls and highways. The location is in Ventura county. The contract price is $11,589.86.

NEW PRICE CUT IN HUDSON AND ESSEX IS MADE

The Hudson-Essex builders announced another price reduction this week. New prices became effective on June 9, according to Ray W. Townsend, of the R. W. Townsend Motor company, Hudson-Essex distributor.

The new quotations show reductions ranging from $14 on the Essex to $35 on the Hudson sedan. The new prices, delivered in Santa Ana, are as follows: Essex coach, $395, drop of $14; Hudson coach, $1340, decrease, $35; Hudson brougham, $1625, drop of $14; Hudson sedan, $1750, reduction of $35.

As compared with June 1, 1925, prices have dropped $115 on the Essex coach; $145 on the Hudson coach; $165 on Hudson brougham, and $215 on the Hudson sedan.

"It's the same old story—increased production and sales of Essex and Hudson cars have made the decreases possible," Townsend said. "The sales in the two lines are increasing right along, a fair demonstration that the cars are giving satisfaction and meeting a demand."

Half of Brakes Are Inadequate

More than 25 per cent of brakes on automobiles in use are inadequate, according to tests made in Detroit for one week, the results of which have just been reported.

A total of 9533 passenger cars were tested, and of these, 2598 were found below the required standard of efficiency.

In addition to passenger cars, 1808 commercial vehicles were given tests, and of these 551 were found to be insufficient in braking capacity. Combining figures of all classes of cars, it was shown that 27 per cent were in operation without having adequate brake protection and it is estimated that a similar condition prevails in other cities.

SAFETY ESSAY CONTAINS MUCH GOOD COUNSEL

Paper Written by Girl in Santa Maria Is Winner In State-wide Contest

Pupils of Orange county engaging in the essay contest on safety, conducted by the California Public Safety conference, under the auspices of the California Development association, will be interested in knowing that Ida S. Wilson, a junior in the Santa Maria high school, won first prize of $25. The second prize went to Alice Garvin, of a San Francisco high school.

Treating the subject, "Sharing Traffic Responsibility," the winner wrote:

"The key word in solving the traffic situation is co-operation—co-operation between drivers and pedestrians. Each must help the other. When we go to the root of 'traffic troubles,' it brings us to the Golden Rule, 'Do unto others as you would have others do unto you.' Therefore, I, as a pedestrian, should do everything in my power to help the driver, and when I change from a pedestrian to a driver, my responsibility becomes even greater."

"There are many ways by which I can help my fellows, whether as a driver or a pedestrian. When I think of a trip, I usually see that my insurance still is good. However, insurance does not prevent accidents, but it is the only real safe protection we can get from their results. But of greater importance is the question of whether my brakes and lights are in good condition."

"Probably I should put off my trip at times a day or two and see that everything is in 'tip-top' condition."

"Last, but not least, do I know my traffic rules? To share my traffic responsibility, I must familiarize myself with all of the traffic laws. For instance, when one holds out his hand, do I know what he means? And after I learn the laws, is my will power strong enough to put them into action? Co-operation between driver and pedestrian will solve our troubles, but it must be a co-operation based on knowledge of laws and a willingness to obey them."

Adjustable Back Rest on Roadster

An adjustable back rest, which permits a latitude of back comfort on long drives greater than ever has been possible in any of its cars before, is offered by the Studebaker organization in its new sport roadster, according to Harry D. Riley, Studebaker distributor for Orange county.

"While Studebaker engineers have done a great deal to perfect body comfort in automobiles, one of their outstanding achievements is the adjustable back rests," Riley said.

VASQUEZ ROCKS TOUR SUGGESTED

A tour to Vasquez rocks, in Mint canyon, was suggested today by Elmer Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California, as a Sunday trip. These rocks have been named after the famous bandit, Vasquez, who, with his band of robbers, is supposed to have used the vicinity where the rocks are located as a hiding place.

There are two available routes from Los Angeles to Saugus, one by way of Glendale and Burbank, the other by way of Calhoun pass, Lankershim and thence over the San Fernando road to Saugus. On the first mentioned route, a short paved detour will be encountered in the city of Burbank.

From Saugus to Mint canyon, paved road is followed to the Agua Dulce schoolhouse, located in Mint canyon, two miles beyond The Oaks. Turning south here, a good natural gravel road is followed for four and one-half miles to Vasquez rocks. In Mint canyon, there are a number of suitable places for a Sunday picnic, as a great many oak trees make pleasant shady spots.

MAGAZINE ISSUED BY AUTO SERVICE

A little magazine called the "Santa Ana Traffic Tower" is being published by the Platt Auto service, local Goodrich tire dealer, and the first issue is being distributed now to car owners throughout the community.

The magazine is devoted to subjects interesting to motorists—touring advice, hints on the care of tires and care in driving for the sake of greater motoring safety.

Two humorous stories give the reader 15 minutes of amusement. One of these stories, "How to Enjoy Jay Walking," is filled with hints to the pedestrian, advising him how he can conduct himself in crossing the street to jangle the nerves of motorists.

The magazine will be appreciated by many golf enthusiasts when they read: "Bertie Joins a New Club."

Platt says he is planning to release three more issues of the magazine during the summer.

GENERAL ROAD CONDITIONS

By Auto Club of Southern California

Construction work is in progress on the Pasadena-San Fernando road between Sunland and Tulare wash, and careful driving is necessary at this point.

Construction on the first summit of Westgate pass does not interfere with travel in any way.

First cars coming out of Yosemite over Tioga pass, on June 5, reported the road in fair condition.

The high mountain passes in Colorado will be open in two weeks, making it possible to tour throughout the entire state.

Widening of curves is still under way on the Ridge road in the vicinity of National Forest Inn.

Carbon canyon is in good condition.

The new Kern River highway, between Bakersfield and Kernville, is now open to four miles beyond Democrat Springs, but closed from that point on.

The road from Azusa to Camp Rincón, in the San Gabriel canyon, is now open and in good condition.

New highway stretching east out of El Centro is now complete for eight miles, but the remaining distance is rough.

the benefit of park visitors will be in full operation.

Much Information Concerning Highway Conditions Is Found in Books

By A. H. PATERSON

District Manager, Union Oil Co.

The fortunate motorist who lives on the Pacific coast, where there are so many good motor trips, over excellent roads, is beginning to give thought to vacation outings. Naturally, he wants to plan his trip ahead. He has in mind, perhaps, some particular beauty spot of which a friend spoke in glowing terms. He is, however, somewhat hazy on the details which go to make the vacation outing a success—the choice of route, condition of roads and distance involved.

How many motorists have not gone through these throes of uncertainty at this season of the year, when the open road is calling, and who, rather than make haphazard choice have given up the contemplated trip and sought other scenes?

To those who have, the announcement that the Union Oil company of California has prepared road maps, covering the entire Pacific coast slope, including British Columbia, Arizona and Nevada, will be welcome. The maps are free to the motorist. They have been placed, with independent dealers handling Union Oil products, and also with the company's service stations, for distribution to all motorists who may desire them.

In all, four maps have been prepared by this California oil corporation. One deals with California, Oregon and Washington; a second covers British Columbia; a third deals with Arizona and the fourth with Nevada. Each map, which is made up in handy pocket size, carries a wealth of information to the motorist. There is shown, for instance, such important facts as paved through routes, paved secondary routes, gravelled through and gravelled secondary routes and unpaved routes. Local roads also are indicated. Cities and towns and even the smallest hamlets in many instances are shown together with the distance separating them.

Here's How Far Car Travels In Single Second

Few persons are good judges of distance, and a still smaller number are good judges of distance in its relation to speed of car travel and time; but by glancing over the accompanying tabulation, it is plainly evident that the amount of ground covered by an automobile in one second of time increases enormously as the car speed increases.

Miles per hour	Feet per second
15	22
20	29
25	36
30	43
35	50
40	57
50	71

Stated in another way, if a car is traveling at the rate of 10 miles an hour and maintains that speed, it will hit an object 15 feet distant at the end of one second. If a car is traveling at the rate of 50 miles an hour and maintains that speed, it will hit an object 81 feet distant at the end of one second. To convey some idea of how short a space of time one second represents, it takes just about one second to speak deliberately the words "one second." To gain a better comprehension of how great the difference is between car travel in feet per second at 10 miles an hour and that at 50 miles an hour, measure off 15 feet, the measure off 81 feet and compare the two distances. This will help you to realize some of the dangers of driving at high speed.

STREET, BRIDGE IMPROVEMENTS WILL RELIEVE HEAVY TRAFFIC

Willard Smith Authorizes Road Department to Rebuild and Widen Flower

WILL CUT DOWN TRAVEL ON MAIN

Contract Is Awarded for Extensive Work on S. A. River Span on Chapman

By HORACE FINE

Automobile Editor Register

Willard Smith, supervisor in the Orange district, has authorized the county road department to rebuild and widen Flower street from the Santa Ana city limits to Chapman street, and the state highway commission has awarded the contract for widening the Chapman street bridge.

Both of these improvements are important to Santa Ana and vicinity and early completion of the work will effect relief of the congested conditions obtaining on North Main street and Chapman street at periods of extreme heavy traffic. The heavy loads are carried on week ends in the summer months and on holidays.

Good Road Bed

Flower street will be treated with rock and oil and a good road bed, 20 feet wide, will be made by the county department. This will offer a good highway from the north city limits to Chapman street and will offer an inducement for its use by hundreds of motorists driving north out of the city. Traffic on North Main can be avoided by traveling this route. Congestion on this road, is possible, of course, should every one use it in an attempt to avoid North Main.

However, it is possible that its use will be limited largely to residents familiar with routes in and out of the city.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company and the Southern California Edison company have a number of poles on North Flower street that will have to be moved before the widening of that street can be started. It is expected the poles will be out of the way so the street work can start within three weeks.

Award Bridge Contract

The state highway commission has awarded F. W. Steffen, San Diego, the contract for building an addition to the Chapman street bridge across the Santa Ana River. When completed, the new structure will be 554 feet long, with a roadway of 40 feet and a six foot sidewalk on each side. The contract was awarded on a bid of $93,875.10. The work is to be of reinforced concrete.

The narrow bridge on Chapman street now forms a bottle neck and slows up traffic, a situation that will be remedied by the new construction. While there never has been a real serious accident on the bridge there have been many narrow escapes. The point always has been dangerous.

Traffic will be speeded up by the wider bridge and congestion on portions of Chapman and Main streets will be relieved by division of the traffic between Main and Flower streets.

PUBLIC EAGER TO READ ABOUT NOTED PERSONS

That the public ever is interested in reading about the great is evident from the continuous popularity of books at the city library which deal with noted persons, both living and dead.

One book is of Byron, written by another well known author, John Drinkwater. The book, "The Pillgrim of Eternity—Byron, a Confession," gives an interesting account of Byron's life and unusual characteristics. "Joan of Arc, Maid of France," by Albert Bigelow Paine, should be of interest to both young and old, library attaches point out, as there are few characters in history more talked about than Joan of Arc, especially since Bernard Shaw chose to make her the theme of his popular play, "Joan."

Giving one an intimate glimpse into the life of a great man is the book entitled, "Selections from the Correspondence of Theodore Roosevelt and Henry Cabot Lodge," by William E. Barton, is unusually interesting. Every young aspirant to the presidency should be able to receive many helpful suggestions from the account of Lincoln's life, it is declared.

Other books that may be procured at the library are "Americanization by Edward Bok," Bok, "Autobiography of Andrew Carnegie," and "From Pinarof to Politics," Harriman; "Thomas Alva Edison, Sixty Years of an Inventor's Life," Jones; "The Days of a Man," Jordan; "Story of My Life," Helen Keller; "Story of My Boyhood and

$15,000 DAMAGES DEMANDED IN SUIT

A claim for $15,000 damages was made against the Olinda Land company in a suit on file today in superior court on behalf of the estate of Quincy Carlock, an employee of the company, who was fatally injured June 12, 1925.

Carlock, who was engaged with other employees in hauling a steam boiler on a truck, was thrown from the truck when it passed under a low hanging telephone wire. It was said. He died four days later.

The damage suit is filed by Nina M. Ayers, administratrix of his estate. The suit charges that the death of Carlock, who was 23 years old, damaged his parents to the extent of $15,000. Attorney Frank L. Perry, of Redondo Beach, represents the plaintiff.

$22,000 JUDGMENT SOUGHT IN ACTION

A suit brought by F. S. Bricker and nearly two score other stockholders of the Bolsa Chica Petroleum corporation is on file in superior court against the corporation, the Lewis Oil company, Charles A. Boege, Hugh Grant, Adolph Thomas and others, demanding judgment for $22,000 against the corporation and foreclosure of a mortgage.

The Bolsa Chica corporation is alleged to have executed a note for $22,000 to Boege and the plaintiffs now claim ownership of the note.

High School Band To Play at Start Of Honolulu Race

Aboard the "Louise," flying the flag of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, the Santa Ana polytechnic high school band cruised today to San Pedro, where the schooner race to Honolulu was to be started.

The band was to play as the fleet of five ships left Newport harbor this morning and again at San Pedro, at the start of the thrilling dash to Hawaii.

As the entry for the Newport Harbor Yacht club, the schooner "Mariner" is to compete in the race. In all, seven boats, the best in Southland waters, were to sail in the race.

After the schooners get under sail, the "Louise" and other ships in the Newport Harbor Yacht club fleet are to follow and watch the developments as far as the west end of the Catalina Islands and then return to Newport bay.

The ships "Louise," "Maud F," "Huron," "Malabar" and "Vamos," the latter owned by Joe A. Beek, commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, will carry about 100 members of the yachting club to the start of the race.

2 Commissioners In College Named

With the appointment of two commissioners, the student executive board at the Santa Ana Junior college for next year was completed at a special session, called yesterday.

Theodore Jesse was chosen for the office of commissioner of publications. By his appointment, Jesse will edit the annual year book, the "Algol." Miss Kate Benton was appointed social commissioner, with the responsibility of arranging the college social affairs.

MISS BALDWIN NEW LEAGUE PRESIDENT

Miss Gayle Baldwin was elected president of the Girls' league, in the Santa Ana polytechnic high school, it was revealed today, when the results of the vote for the year's officers were announced.

In the elections, conducted among the girls of the high school student body, Miss Baldwin defeated Miss Mary Bruner, 162 to 144.

Marcia Keeler was chosen vice president; Clara Kate Owens, secretary, and Catherine Walbridge, treasurer.

Miss Baldwin, president-elect, during the last semester, was vice president of the girls' organization. At the opening of the fall term she will assume office and direct the activities of the Girls' league in student body activities.

NIGHT DRIVING IS HAZARDOUS TASK

"One hundred watches a day!" shouted the astonished banker. "My goodness man, where could you sell 100 watches a day?"

"If the price was at $1 I could sell them all right," assured Ingersoll. "But my dear man," interposed the financier, "at the rate of 100 watches a day you would soon have all the people in the United States supplied with watches and then what would you do?"

In spite of this early example of the fallacy of talking saturation (at the peak, the Ingersoll watch works turned out 22,000 time-pieces daily) economists have continued to establish saturation points with no show of discouragement over the rapid and decisive overthrow of their predictions. In the automotive field, particularly, have economists continued to set definite figures as the limits of consumption. Whereas 15 years ago they were talking about a million cars as being the limit—then later, 10 million—they now are fixing the figure at 40 million. As a matter of fact, the motor car, when it has reached its final point of perfection, will be like the telephone and typewriter—it will continue to grow just so long as it contributes more than it costs to the economic and social welfare of the nation.

One Confederate Didn't Surrender

SHELBY, Mo., June 11.—Although the Civil war was ended more than 60 years ago, Missouri claims the distinction of having a Confederate veteran who has never surrendered. A. R. Bibbons, of Shelby, declares that after peace was declared, the Southern army failed to muster him out and he was never required to swear allegiance to the federal government.

DE LA HUERTA WILL RESPECT U. S. LAW

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 11.—Adolfo de la Huerta, once provisional president of Mexico, will observe the neutrality laws of the United States, and while in this country he will take no steps toward starting or aiding a revolution in his native land.

On the other hand, since he believes his life in jeopardy in Mexico, he is not likely to cross the border to join any revolt.

This was made plain by De la Huerta at a meeting with reporters here. He would not comment for publication on the probability of new uprisings against the Calles government, but he admitted that, if the Mexican people should demand his leadership, he would not be one to deny it to them.

De la Huerta said he would remain in San Antonio a few days and then visit several points on the border, keeping, however, on this side of the Rio Grande.

The former president issued a statement criticizing the economic, political, religious and social policies of President Calles, accusing him of despotism and denouncing the expulsion of foreigners from Mexico.

He disclosed during the interview that, while in New York, April 6, he had been informed by a follower in San Antonio that attempts would be made to assassinate him when he went to Los Angeles. But he attached no importance to the threat, and no untoward incident occurred either on the trip west nor during his stay here. He came here from Los Angeles.

De la Huerta said he felt no apprehension in touring the Mexican border.

Outbreaks are occurring frequently in Mexico at present, De la Huerta asserted. De la Huerta made it plain that he was not friendly toward the men now in power in Mexico. But, he added, he would respect the American laws and he had so assured the department of justice, the local office of which he visited this morning on a courtesy call.

MEN REFUSE TO UNLOAD STEAMER

SAN DIEGO, June 11.—Union longshoremen refused to unload the steamer Yale, of the Los Angeles Steamship line, when it docked at the municipal pier 1 and held a meeting to discuss the situation, while non-union men discharged the freight.

The union men had demanded an increase of 15 cents an hour for the work, which is classed as overtime. The San Diego Stevedoring company refused, contending the present rates are the same as in other Southern California ports.

The present scale for boats of the Los Angeles Steamship line is $1.20 an hour for overtime and 80 cents for straight time. Union men demanded $1.35 and 90 cents.

Officers of the stevedoring company said that the higher scale is paid to longshoremen working on offshore boats, where steam tackle is used, as this sort of work requires skilled men. The Yale and Harvard, however, unload out of doors opening on the wharf and do not require skilled longshoremen, it was said.

New Embassy for U. S. Ambassador

LONDON, June 11.—Ambassador and Mrs. Houghton expect to move into the new American embassy at 13 and 14 Prince's Gate—the building given by J. Pierpont Morgan—toward the latter part of July.

The two buildings have now been converted into one; the decorators have come in to carry out the architect's plans and the Ambassador expects to give up Crewe House the last of July.

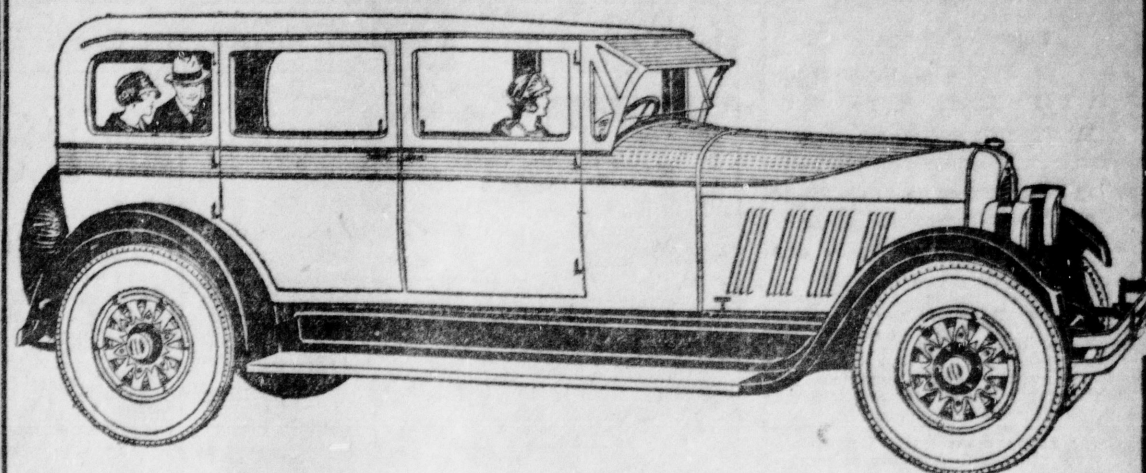

The offices of the embassy—including the library and the quarters of the naval and military attaches—will remain at four Grosvenor Gardens.

DIFFICULT BROADCAST
The problem of broadcasting the many reverberating notes given out by an organ to give the listener a faithful reproduction of sound requires the use of several microphones placed in different parts of the hall where the concert is picked up.

Big Bear Lake in High*AUBURN*EIGHTY-EIGHT*Proves Startling Power

A new Southland record—a high-gear run to Big Bear lake, which for ten years has balked every previous attempt of professionals and amateurs in all types of cars to negotiate it, has just been established.

In the record-breaking climb a strictly standard model Auburn 8-83 touring car set a new mark of 1 hour and 23 minutes for the 46.5 miles from San Bernardino via City Creek cutoff.

The car, which carried full equipment, including fenders, windshield, front bumper, spare tire and top lowered, was piloted by Fred Johnson, sales manager of the White Auto Co., distributors of the Auburn, with George F. Stephenson, technical representative of the A. A. A., riding in the observer's seat in an unofficial capacity.

The event was under semi-official auspices, having been arranged with the co-operation of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce from which the run was started. Mayon Grant Holcomb, accompanied by Ben Holmes and Royal Mack, president and secretary, respectively, of the Chamber of Commerce, started off the run in the presence of Los Angeles newspaper men, Auburn factory representatives, Auburn dealers, and a large gathering of disinterested persons.

To safeguard motorists and others along the route, Chief Jay Boone of the San Bernardino County motor patrol, and Motorcycle Officers R. L. Shaw and John Marks, rode ahead of the Auburn.

The route followed was over Arrowhead avenue to Base Line boulevard, east to Palm avenue, west through Highland to Highland boulevard, east to the City Creek road, thence over City Creek road and cutoff to Big Bear dam and along the new South Shore drive into Big Bear Valley. The finish was at the stage depot of the Motor Transit company.

ATTRACTIONS AT LOCAL THEATERS

Antonio Moreno and Dorothy Mackaill in a scene from "One Year to Live," picture beginning four-day engagement at the Yost theater Sunday.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
The story of "The Greater Glory," the film which comes to the Yost Broadway tomorrow, treats of the philanthropies of Fanny, a young Viennese outcast, who during the post-war days in Vienna sustained her suffering kin. Her charm and gentility graced the halls of Vienna's most exclusive night club as hostess. Her sweetheart, the Count Maxim, had never concurred in his mother's peremptory dissolution of his engagement to Fanny. He could not put her out of his mind. And when, a guest one night at the ultra-elegant resort, he again meets

Fanny, his love triumphs over his scruples at finding her in such surroundings, and he takes her to his heart forever.

Anna Q. Nilsson plays as Fanny and Conway Hearle is seen as the count. In the background, but bulking large, is always the epic note of a people in turmoil, a world in the throes of reconstruction. The terrible toll war levies upon all the innocent as well as the guilty, is forced home with a realism to shock the most phlegmatic out of their composure.

WEST COAST-WALKER.
Were you ever out in the great alone. When the moon was awful clear. And the sky mountains hemmed you in. With a silence you 'most could hear.

Then you have a hunch what it means to be alone in a crowd, a stranger in a strange land—among strange people where every man is for himself. If you don't know what this feels like, then see Charlie Chaplin in his great comedy "The Gold Rush," which closes tonight at the W. C. W. theater.

See the little tramp, a disappointed prospector, amble into the dance-hall, seeking, searching for a little companionship—surrounded by the merry makers, but with never a sign of welcome from anyone. Then left alone with the crowd of lucky ones go on with the dance. Until a smile from "the girl" seems to kindle a spark, and as he steps forward to the greeting—finds that it is for someone else.

WEST COAST-WALKER.
"La Boheme," known and loved wherever opera is sung, is now on the screen.

The tragic story of Mimi, the little seamstress of the Latin quarter, and her poet lover Rodolphe, comes Sunday to the West Coast-Walker, when Lillian Gish's latest starring vehicle opens.

"La Boheme" is one of the most appealing heart-interest stories in the whole field of the classics. The screen version was not taken from the opera itself, but from the original Henri Murger novel, of which the opera story was an episode.

The supporting cast is notable. John Gilbert plays the leading male role of "Rodolphe," and others in the cast are Roy D'Arcy, Renee Adoree, Karl Dane, Edward Everett Horton, Gino Corrado, Frank Currier, George Hassell, and other well known players.

Lillian May Challenger, who has sung over virtually every large radio station in America is one of the featured artists on the Franchon and Marco "Radio Idea" program.

Miss Challenger is said to have the "perfect radio voice," described as a mezzo-contralto. For more than two years she sang over WEAF, famous New York radio station, and has had the unique distinction of having her voice broadcast to the four corners of the earth several months ago, when WEAF put on an international night with Miss Challenger as the star. As the result of this world-wide broadcasting appearance, Miss Challenger received letters from Japan, Russia, South Africa, Alaska and in the Argentine.

YOST THEATER
The process of careful selection was no doubt employed by M. C. Levee when he assembled the cast of "One Year to Live," the new picture which is coming to the Yost theater tomorrow.

Eight stellar players, new and old claimants of great picture popularity, willing to the screen performance that compare with, and perhaps supercede, the best known to filmdom.

Guided by Director Irving Cummings, himself a former matinee idol of the stage and leading man of the films, the histrionism of "One Year to Live" races neck to neck with inspiration.

The cast includes Aileen Pringle, Antonio Moreno, Dorothy Mackaill, Rosemary Theby, Joseph Kilgour, Rose Dione, Chester Conklin and Sam De Grasse.

YOST THEATER
If, as some one has pointed out, "a thing of beauty is a joy forever," then "The American Venus," which closes at the Yost theater tonight, may rightfully be hailed as an enduring screen classic. For it contains a richness of costume, a magnificence of setting, a sumptuousness of mounting and a superabundance of feminine youth and loveliness that combine to make it quite the most eye-dazzling spectacle the silver sheet has ever seen.

And yet, all these gorgeous trappings are merely the glorified trimings of a zippy, thrill-filled story that holds the interest with its perpetual motion, exciting situations and ceaseless laughter.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
"Never give a sucker an even break." That's the meaning of the title attached to W. C. Fields' starring vehicle, "It's the Old Army Game," which closes at the Yost Broadway theater tonight. From start to finish, the film was punctuated by giggles, guffaws, laughs and absolute shouts of joyousness.

All of which merriment might have been caused by any number of reasons. First, W. C. Fields, making his debut as an honest-to-goodness movie star in this comedy, is one of the most amusing men the screen has ever known. Second, Eddie Sutherland, the director, is a fellow well versed in distributing laughs. Witness his "Behind the Front." Then there is pliant pert little Louise Brooks, featured along with Mr. Fields. She contributes a performance second only to that given by the star. A fine cast which includes Mickey Bennett, Blanche Ring, Mary Foy and William Gaxton, is mighty capable and could not use very much improvement.

CONDEMNED PLAYS DRAWING THROGS

NEW YORK, June 12.—New York's play jury system, devised to weed out the immoral productions without the aid of the police, will either be completely revised or abandoned altogether.

The re-opening of the "Bunk of 1926," with the backing of a court order, after it had been closed by a jury that held it should not run another minute, has proved the weakness of the system.

The play jury plan was put into effect two years ago through an agreement between the district attorney, the Producers' association, the Actors Equity and several civic organizations.

Under the plan, the district attorney can, upon complaint, impanel a jury to view and pass on the show. If nine jurors vote against it, the show automatically closes and there is no appeal.

The producers of "The Bunk" refused to accept the verdict on the ground that they are not members of the Producers' association. Then they obtained an injunction restraining the district attorney, the police or anybody else from interfering with the performance.

Under the original agreement, however, the actors, members of the Equity, would refuse to play in a condemned show.

But the Equity announced that it is through with such an agreement and that good actors should not be thrown out of a job at this time of the year when jobs are hard to get.

Consequently "The Bunk" got a lot of valuable advertising.

"Beyond Evil," another production, was running full blast with the aid of a court order.

The backers claim that this play, which was originally called "The Nymphomania" is not a sex play. It is a burlesque on the current sex plays, they say, and is designed to make the audience laugh in the wrong place.

Knives and scissors sharpened. Hawley's, opposite post office.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA—Nathan Hale

—BY REDNER

The stars which were indicated in the original design were six-pointed and Betsy Ross suggested that they have but five points. She took a pair of shears and a folded slip of paper, and showed how the five-pointed stars could be made with one clip. Members of the flag committee immediately agreed to her plan and changed their design to conform.

It was in her own home, in a little upholstery store on Arch street, Philadelphia, that Betsy busied herself with needle and material and made the first Old Glory.

Every stitch of the tedious work was done by hand, and when the sample flag finally was completed, the flag committee and other officials gathered to inspect it.

Many were the compliments that greeted Betsy's handiwork. The flag was spread out across her lap while those high in government affairs looked it over. Washington, Morris and Ross, the original flag committee, were much impressed with the beauty of it. The white, five-pointed stars—13 of them—stood out sharply against the field of blue.

by Allene Sumner

Plain Woman Speaks

All females of the species raised to believe that virtue is its own reward and that happiness awaits the good girl, will appreciate the irony of Roxana B. White's "A Plain Woman to Her Rival."

"Yes, you are beautiful. I, who would rejoice at any flaw in the perfection of your loveliness, admit your beauty. They told me, 'character and soul are all that count.' And so I cultivated a soul."

But when I smilingly perform some sacrifice he passes it unnoticed, while your demure pout entrances him. And when I suffer, I smile and leave unshed the tears that sting against my lids. He does not notice. But you weep and with his handkerchief he dries your eyes and kisses them!

"Yes, you are beautiful. But you will weep when time threads gray into your hair and waves your cheek with wrinkles. And I shall laugh! For plain women have no fear of age!"

Salad in Rhyme

"Two boiled potatoes, strained through a kitchen sieve, Softness and smoothness to the salad give; Of mordant mustard take a single spoon— Distrust the condiment that bites too soon;

Yet deem it not, thou man of taste, a fault, To add a double quantity of salt. Four times the spoon with oil of Lucca crown,

And twice with vinegar procured from town; True taste requires it, and your poet begs

The pounded yellow of two well-boiled eggs. Let onion's atoms lurk within the bowl,

And, scarce suspected, animate the whole; And lastly in the flavored compound toss

A magic spoonful of anchovy sauce. Oh, great and glorious! Oh, herbaceous meat!

'Twould tempt the dying anchorite to eat. Back to the world he'd turn his weary soul,

And plunge his fingers in the salad bowl."

ACCEPTANCE

As it's given me to see, I have come to this conclusion: Telling God what ought to be is impertinent intrusion. So when I get down to pray I just ask for what is best And the strength to face the day And the faith to meet the test.

As I run my own life through, 'Spite of all the pains I'm taking, I'm ashamed to sit and view All the blunders I've been making.

I've so bungled my affairs, Doing what I thought was wise, That I've ceased to put on airs And I fear to criticize.

All my boasted judgment seems But a hodge-podge and a jumble. I have spoiled so many dreams That I should be very humble. For the gain I thought was good Often turned out very bad, And the loss, when understood, Brought what small success I've had.

As it's given me to see, I have come to this conclusion: Telling God what ought to be is impertinent intrusion.

Since I cannot wisely run All these small affairs of mine, Surely I am not the one To resent the will divine.

SKIN BLEMISHES

If you have any very bad skin trouble such as persistent blackheads and pimples which do not yield to ordinary home treatments, go to a doctor about them. You may be suffering from some toxic condition which requires medical treatment, you may also have infected the skin so badly that it keeps reinfesting itself. This frequently happens in the case of boils and carbuncles and an enormous number of cases of facial blemishes. Internal treatments are of little use then because the infection is from without, and the only thing to do is to make the skin antiseptically clean until the germs are destroyed.

First, I'll give a simple blackhead treatment. Go to your drugist and get a tin of gritty soap sold under various names for mechanic's use. Mix it with about its own quantity of cold cream, steam the face by holding hot wet cloths over it for a minute or two, and then rub in a small quantity of this paste. Rub it thoroughly, and if a certain amount of dead skin rolls off don't be alarmed, this is only the outer layer of skin which is constantly coming off. Rinse thoroughly with fresh hot water, and if the skin feels the least bit irritated or dry rub on a small amount of cold cream and wipe off with a dry towel.

This is a blackhead paste which

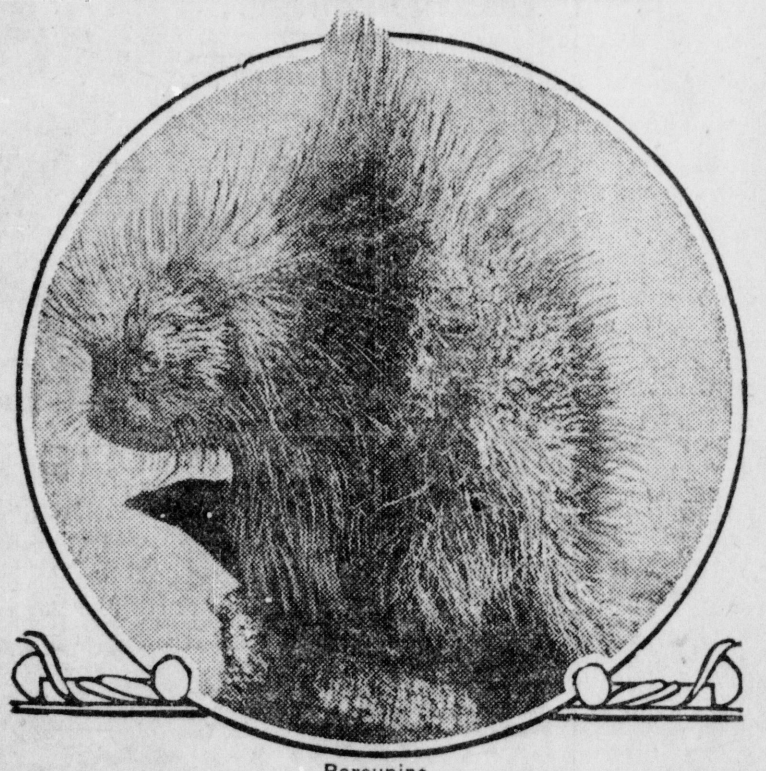

I have found excellent for treating all ordinary cases of blackheads and enlarged pores. Pimples, which cause blackheads, are a much more complicated trouble and very little can be said about them today. However, I would advise rubbing them thoroughly at night with sulphur or zinc ointment as long as possible. This makes the skin antiseptic and prevents reinfestation. To dry up the pimples touch them up frequently during the day with a saturated solution of acetaneld and alcohol. If you can't get this full strength alcohol will do peroxide of hydrogen.

M. L. B.—The reason your hair gets oily now that it is short is because the scalp secretes the same amount of oil as it did when your hair was long, and that extra length of hair did not show the effects of the oil in the time between the shampoos.

There is nothing wrong with your scalp, all you have to do now is to shampoo oftener than you formerly did. The extra combing you are giving your hair has no effect upon stimulating the secretions. If your hats are very snug and warm they would be a cause for this trouble. The pilocarpine hair tonic would help rid you of the dandruff. If you care for it I will be glad to send you the formula.

Queer Quirks of NATURE.

FRETFUL PORCUPINE MINDS OWN BUSINESS

Porcupine

By ARTHUR N. PACK
President, The American Nature Association

The unfortunate person whose individual hairs stood on end, like quills upon the fretful porcupine, was, in comparison with "Porky," decidedly out of luck.

Erect hairs only advertise fear, but erect quills mean "hands off." Wee to the animal, human or otherwise, who disregards that warning, for he is likely to become a sort of quill-cushion before he knows it.

The tail is Porky's most effective end, if the curious or unwary intruder allows himself to be in its vicinity he is likely to encounter a quick flip from it, and find that some of its short, easily detached quills are left in his anatomy. These are among the sharpest things found in nature, and each one is fitted with a multitude of tiny barbs. These prevent the quill from being pulled out without using force and inflicting pain, and, furthermore, cause them to go deeper as the victim moves, until they bury themselves. Great discomfort and even death may overtake an animal thus afflicted.

Let us remember, however, that our porcupine is a world-beater at minding his own business, and that if we go on about ours, and let him do likewise, we shall both be happier.

"FACTS" OF LIFE NO MYSTERY TO WONDER CHILD

Here is the fifth of Anne Austin's talks to mothers on how she raised Ellen Elizabeth Benson, her "wonder" daughter who at 12 has "the brightest mind ever tested." The sixth will conclude NEA's exclusive series.

By ANNE AUSTIN

Almost every mother I meet asks me sooner or later, with self-consciously lowered voice and a glance about to see whether either her child or mine is overhearing her: "Have you told Elizabeth anything about—er—about the—facts of life?"

I was reared in the post-Victorian era when little boys wrote vile words on back fences and when mothers told children silly lies about the doctor and his black bag or finding babies under lily pads—according to the degree of sentimentality and imagination which the mother possessed. I remember some rather dreadful experiences in my own life as a result of the policy of keeping girl children in ignorance of everything connected with sex.

Couldn't Lie To Her

I have never told Elizabeth a lie about sex or anything connected with her own body and its future pleasures and uses. I couldn't lie about one whole important phase of life and expect her to trust me on other matters.

And by the time she was old enough to have a natural curiosity about her own body and the manner in which she had come into the world, I had lost my silly prejudices against frankness on sex subjects. I had found that sex was not mysterious, was nothing to whisper slyly about, nothing to blush about. When at the age of 7, she asked me how God had made her, I told her the truth—not a fairy story. But I told it without embarrassment, in exactly the same manner that I gave her all other information for which she asked.

She was not embarrassed, of course, by the careful, explicit information I gave her. Why should she have been? I believe it is often the mother's furtive manner of trying to dress up biological truths which makes children shy off from further questions. Children are awfully keen—they know when we're trying to read, and they don't willingly put their heads twice in the position of being lied to.

Armed With Truth

When Elizabeth was 9 she asked me, laughing at a movie we had seen, "Why does the villain always chase the heroine all over the place?"

I told her exactly what the villain wants when he chases the young heroine. I even drew, clumsily but quite plainly, a diagram to illustrate my frank exposition of passion, unlawful lust, and sexual union. Then because we were living in Hollywood, where, as rumor has it, there is an uncommon degree of perversion, I explained the more common types to her.

I had to protect her from anything that could possibly happen to her during my all-day absence from home. My work frequently took me out at night, too, and since she had gone to bed at 8 o'clock on school nights until she was 11 years old, I could not take her with me. She had to stay at home alone. She has never known the meaning of fear, and solitude is welcome to her, rather than a cause for brooding and unhappiness.

The only way to protect her from un-understood tendencies in her own nature and from prowling degenerates was to arm her with complete knowledge of her body, its future uses, and of vice as it is practiced by people who were wrongly taught in their childhood.

Now Not Interested

My friends discuss anything and everything before Elizabeth as freely as with me. Sex is a subject which she understands as fully as she does the basic principles of dietetics, and in which she is not half so interested. As for myself, I can't for the life of me see why there is so much fuss made over the proper way to explain "where babies come from" to small children. It isn't half so hard to account for as where the flames go when the candle is blown out.

The sixth and concluding article in the series will discuss Elizabeth's moral and spiritual development.

NO. 12—THE MONEY AND THE BASKET TREE

"And quarters!" shouted Nick. "And half dollars."

"We forgot to ask those queer creatures if they had seen anything of Inco and Flops," said Nancy when she and Nick had gotten their breath.

"Oh, well," said Nick. "I'm sure they were not there anyway. Inco never, never would make up with rubber bathtub toys or Christmas-tree ducks."

At this both the pink tickets stretched up out of the pockets and said, "They weren't there anyway. We told you not to go there."

"But the goats butted us over the wall and we couldn't help it," said Nancy. "Were you going to take us?"

But before either of the pink tickets had time to say a word, Nick grabbed Nancy's arm. "Look!" he cried. "Somebody has lost a lot of pennies!"

"And nickles and dimes," declared Nancy dropping on her knees and starting to pick them up as fast as she could.

"And quarters!" shouted Nick. "And half dollars! This must be Captain's treasure!"

"I can't hold any more," said Nancy. "My pockets are full and both my hands. I wish I had a basket."

She began to look around for something to hold her money, and what should she spy but a tree full of ten-cent baskets.

Without a word she walked over and picked two, then she came back and handed one to Nick.

"Hurrah!" shouted Nick. "Won't we be rich, Nancy! I'm going to buy the candy store and the toy store and the movies. And maybe I'll buy an automobile apiece for

NOT SO DUMB!

Builder of First Auto Fixed the Back-Seat Driver

BY TOM SIMS

Once upon a time, in the good old days of 1898, when the phrase "Thanks for the horseless buggy-ride" came first into being, a man built an automobile that was just right.

For not the back seat was in the front and the front seat was in the back, and the back seat driver was confounded!

John Henry had all the best of it, indeed. He sat in the back seat and steered, while all Mrs. Henry could do was sit in front and shiver. The tables were turned.

Ladies and children first! If there were poles to be climbed, fences to be gone through, railroad tracks to be struck, there were Mrs. John Henry and little Chester in the front seat, and John, the chauffeur, "chauffeur" away in the rear.

"Powerless, wordless, quivering," Mrs. John Henry sat there while the frisky John Henry raced his infernal vehicle up and down the dusty roads, to the consternation of the townsfolk and the horses. Fully five miles an hour!

But the modern motorist can look upon this picture with horror. Suppose it were the style today, and the ladies indeed did sit in the back seat and actually do the driving instead of merely supervising with shrill cries!

Can't you picture John Henry sitting there, frozen to the seat, with the equipage heading straight on for a street car?

The 1898 model, shown above, and said to have been the first in America, still has most of its molars, and gets around fairly well without crutches. For all its 28 years, it has lived a good life. It is the property of John Wyatt, of Saylor Park, Ohio. Miss Cecilia Kessler, of Cincinnati, is at the throttle.

Nobody ever complained of the cold in this venerable model. There was a boiler right under the seat. And it was not always from nervousness, perhaps, that John Henry quivered.

HERE'S NEW GUESS AT FUTURE RADIO

By NEA Service
NEW YORK, June 12.—Hugo Gernsback, writer and popular prophet of scientific advancement, visualizes these radio conditions of 1936.

A change in broadcasting with stations operating below 50 meters possibly below 10 meters, allowing 4000 stations to be on the air without interference.

Television extending over eight 10,000 or 12,000 miles by radio. Tubes operating directly from the 110-volt house-lighting circuit and known as "cold" tubes, needing no heating of filaments.

Simple control of the radio receiver, eliminating the many knobs and dials now in use.

Gernsback says the loud speaker of 1936 will have no diaphragm. It may be a gaseous, talking lamp. Regarding the popularity of radio, Gernsback believes that 25 to 35 million receivers will be in operation by 1936.

"If inexperienced in radio, be sure your first set is a Crosley"

It takes neither practice nor mechanical skill to tune in stations all over the country. Children and old people operate Crosley radios easily. They are fool proof.

They are inexpensive. They don't tie up a lot of money. They have proven their efficiency over a period of years. Thousands of letters report remarkable demonstrations. Hundreds of thousands of sets sold substantiate all claims to excellence.

They are made by a reliable, well known and financially strong concern, that guarantees them absolutely.

The easy operation, tone and volume of the four new Crosley sets delight, not only the expectant beginner; they arouse the most confirmed radio lover to realization that Povel Crosley, Jr., has again made an improvement in radio no less revolutionary than the Musicones ($16.25), now the world's largest selling loud speaker.

And the RFL sets possess true cascade amplification. For Crosley has utilized an entirely new patented circuit which achieves cumulative amplification actually approaching the theoretical maximum efficiency per tube.

WHO? WHO? WHO? HOOVER!

Herbert C. Hoover is offered the position of "czar" of the textile industry. He refuses. Last year he could have become potentate of the radio industry. That, too, he declined. He prefers to remain at the head of the Department of Commerce. Mr. Hoover, in his quiet way, is achieving great things, and is one of the closest advisers of the President. Indeed, Mr. Hoover, in some well-informed quarters, is regarded as the "power behind the throne"—the most influential member of the cabinet in aiding the President to shape important policies. The Nation is fortunate in having a man of the caliber of Herbert C. Hoover in the cabinet.—Long Beach Press-Telegram.

Some people think Mr. Hoover has the busy bee of a bigger and better job buzzing in the back of his head. They recall that Julius Caesar once—no twice or thrice refused a crown, because he would rather become Emperor than King or Emperor or Czar or what have you?

Not that Mr. Hoover's suspected ambition has anything of the Caesar spirit in it. Far from it. If Mr. Hoover declines to become the "czar" of the textile industry, at a princely salary, because he would rather be, and hopes to be, President of the United States, at a comparatively moderate salary, it is because he believes he can be of more and better service to his country in the latter position.

Undoubtedly, Mr. Hoover is a man of the highest and best patriotism, and his business ability and statesmanship command worldwide respect and admiration.

RUNNING DOWN THE TOWN

If you had a horse that you wanted to sell, you would not go about town talking constantly about its bad points. If you did, you wouldn't be likely to sell it. What would you think of a merchant who made a practice of standing out in front of his store telling all passers that his goods were shoddy and not worth much? You would probably say he is a fool and you would be right.

Now, the town in which you live is your town; your business is here, your job is here, your property is here. Do you think you are going to make your business any better or add to the value of your property by standing around and roaring about what a rotten town it is? If you do, you'd better see an alienist about your mental condition.

As a matter of fact, every time you "run down" your town, you are hurting your own business and detracting from the value of your property. Even though you may have no pride in your community, you ought to have sense enough not to injure your own interests. Every business concern in addition to a stock of goods and plant, has intangible assets of the greatest value. Among the assets is its good name, its reputation for square dealing. When you hurt the good name of such a concern, you injure it more than you would if you should burn down its plant.

Besides its business and industrial institutions, its homes, schools and all other kinds of property, every town has intangible assets which must be protected. When you talk down your town, you are injuring its good name and thereby giving it a blow of the most serious kind. If you want your business to be better, if you want your property to increase in value, if you want to live in a better town, forget your grouches and begin to talk for your town instead of running it down.—Bemidji, Minnesota, Sentinel.

THE FARM WOMAN'S FEATS

It has always been recognized that farm women performed prodigies of labor, but the full story has never been told. Here is part of it, as revealed by the Western States Extension Conference.

The average rural housewife spends 30 days a year carrying water, pumping and toting 20 tons of it into the house and then toting it out again.

She washes and dries three acres of dishes a year. She bakes countless pies, often walking a quarter of a mile per pie.

She could save 10 days' time a year just by installing a drain to carry out the waste water, and the other 20 days by having a pump or faucet at her sink.

She could save drying those three acres of dishes by using a dish drainer, even if she couldn't afford a dish washer.

She could save 1-2 miles of walking a day as a Montana woman did—proving it by a pedometer—and also save an hour and a half of time, by grouping her kitchen things more conveniently and taking short cuts.

DEBT REDUCTION

There is some disagreement about the President's declaration that whatever surplus develops henceforth in the national treasury should be used not to reduce taxes further, but to reduce the national debt. By one method, the taxpayers would hold onto a little more of the money they are now paying the government. By the other, the government would take that bit of money and use it to pay its debts—which are also the taxpayers' debts. The latter method looks sound as a general proposition.

The policy suggested is a good one for individuals to follow in their private affairs. Use your surplus to reduce your debts and cut down interest charges.

FARM BOOKKEEPING

Bookkeeping is one of the next things the Department of Agriculture wants to teach farmers. Large agricultural enterprises—big plantations or ranches, large fruit or dairy farms—are usually run on a basis of economic efficiency. But the small farmer, in most parts of the country, does not keep books on himself and so does not know much about his own efficiency or how well his crops repay his labor.

A little sound bookkeeping should go far to open the minds of such farmers to a clearer understanding of their whole problem, including its solution.

The household budget has rescued many a salaried family from mysterious financial troubles. Bookkeeping and budgeting should help many a farm family in the same way, by setting things down in their proper relation to each other, disclosing the wastes of labor or money and suggesting the sort of remedies needed.

Silent on South's Project

San Bernardino Sun

Omission by Governor Friend W. Richardson of reference to the Boulder canyon dam project in the announcement of the policies he proposes to pursue if reelected governor has startled Southern California.

It is true that the Colorado river project is largely a matter for the federal government to handle, but it needs the united support of California to secure favorable action on the bill at Washington, and there are certain phases of the project that must have the assistance of state legislation.

There are among Governor Richardson's most active and influential supporters in Los Angeles, interests which are strenuously opposed to the Boulder canyon project. During the last legislative sessions opponents of the governor alleged that he failed to exert influence in support of the metropolitan water district bill, a necessary feature of the Colorado river development if the water is to be brought into Southern California. The governor has maintained an almost complete silence regarding the project during his entire term of office. Governors of other states concerned have been actively representing the interests of their states and some of them have even gone to Washington or had representatives there.

The result of this combination of circumstances has been to create an atmosphere of apprehension as to the governor's policy toward the Colorado river project, whether he would continue to virtually ignore it as a state issue, or whether he would throw the powerful influence of his office into the cause of the Boulder canyon dam, on which further development of Southern California largely depends.

So much of the state is directly concerned, and the rest of it indirectly, and so many millions of people are affected, that the Colorado river project is a state issue, entitled to the active support of every public official within the state, and particularly that of the governor.

Rex B. Goodell and C. C. Young, two of the other leading candidates for governor, have embodied the Colorado river project in their initial announcements, and both have pledged their complete support. These two candidates regard the project as a state issue and a highly important state issue.

No candidate can be elected to congress in the districts of Southern California who does not pledge his energies to the measure, and all candidates for the senate have already announced their earnest support. In the Southern California legislative districts involved, probably no legislator will be re-elected who opposed the metropolitan water bill.

Governor Richardson can be credited with consistency; he has not discussed as governor the Boulder canyon legislation, and his announcement of the policies he has adopted indicates, by his silence, that he does not intend to take up the matter as a candidate. Consistency may be a jewel, but Southern California is not interested just now in epigrams; it is vitally interested in the Colorado river project, and it is most apt to interpret the governor's previous disinterest as detrimental to the welfare of more than two million people, and act accordingly.

It is very probable that the northern portion of the state is not nearly as interested in the Colorado river project as is the southern part of the state. This is because the field of activity is more distant. The direct results involve Southern California. The matter has therefore not been brought with sufficient vividness to the attention of the people of the north. Yet there are many in the upper portions of the state who regard the Colorado river as an issue of state-wide concern. Southern California needs additional water and power. The north has a surplus of both. Unless the southern portion of the state can turn to the Colorado river, it is certain that economic pressure would bring this surplus down from the north, take it from a region that will, in a comparatively brief period of time, require all the existing resources. That is the interest of the northern portion of the state.

Reasonable Air Program

San Francisco Chronicle

Congress is following a reasonable and constructive policy in supporting the military air service. By voting to permit an increase of 403 officers and 7000 enlisted personnel, and the construction of 1800 planes over a five-year period, the congress has acted wisely toward building up America's air forces.

The $40,000,000 annual expenditure will not please some of the old timers in other services who "see nothing in airplanes." Neither will it satisfy enthusiasts who would have a warplane hitched to every lamp post, and the infantry, cavalry and artillery thrown into the discard. But it will meet the approval of those who want to see the air service developed along logical lines.

Perhaps the verbal bombards of Colonel Mitchell and others have served a useful purpose by attracting attention to the needs of the service. And their opponents have been equally useful as a counterbalance to exaggerated demands. The result is that while Congress declines to approve any extravagant expansion, it is making provision for conservative and constructive development of the military aircraft service.

SAFEGUARDS IN SWIMMING

Swimming, one of the most popular summer sports, has been greatly abused by the careless and unthinking. It is obvious that so useful a diversion should be surrounded with adequate safeguards.

Ability to swim and knowledge of rescue methods are prime requisites for entering the water. Water used for bathing should be free from pollution, lest disease be widely spread. Inflation to be refraining from bathing immediately after eating and by remaining in the water for only short periods, this excellent and diverting exercise may be enjoyed without its being abused.

A coat of tan should be acquired gradually. Otherwise, one may suffer unnecessarily and even intensely from sunburn. The bronzed skin of the lifeguard may well be envied but it should be remembered that a healthy tan is the result of weeks of gradual exposure rather than an intensive burn acquired during a 24-hour trip to a bathing beach. Comfort during hot weather is due in no small part to the mental attitude. A philosophical state of mind, freedom from worry and inclination to benefit as much as possible by the outdoor life are all conducive to health and happiness.

When a pleasant state of mind is coupled with reasonable observance of hygienic principles, a winning combination results.

If the summer vacation has been properly spent, one may resume the more arduous duties of fall and winter with confident knowledge that the mind and body are better prepared to meet the legitimate demands of our daily tasks.

Security Without Arms

Riverside Press

Hungary raised a very important point at the preliminary arms reduction conference. She said it was not fair to restrict her army to 35,000 men and permit her neighbors on the north, east, south and part of the west to maintain under arms a great many more than that. Germany has made the same complaint. Of course it is done under the theory that they are conquered nations and are not to be trusted with arms, while their conquerors are to be trusted. The utter falsity of this assumption the whole world knows. Turkey would also be restricted in the same way were it not that she is contemptuous of the orders of the League of Nations and they have no means of enforcing them save by precipitating another war.

The theory that world peace lies in heavy armaments has not yet finished its day, utterly untrue as we know it to be. That is because we have as yet no other theory to take its place in which we have confidence. The nations do not trust each other. That means the United States as well as other powers. We are prone to consider ourselves an exception. We look upon ourselves as perfectly harmless to the rest of the world, but not upon them as harmless to us. But that is exactly the same view they hold toward us. They are as afraid of our great military potentiality as we are of theirs. When we wrap our mantle around us and say we will have nothing to do with the other nations, because we are big enough and strong enough to take care of ourselves, we inspire suspicion and even alarm instead of trust and confidence. World peace lies not along that line.

Yet something must be done to disarm the world. We can not hope as yet to take the fighting spirit out of mankind. Nations, just as individuals, have conflicting ideas and interests and stand ready to fight for them when there is no other way of maintaining them. As individuals we have discovered that there is far less promptness in starting a fight over conflicting interests when men do not go around with guns strapped to their hips. We now know this to be true also of nations, but there as yet has been found no way to get all nations to unbuckle their gun holsters. Restricting the number of battleships and permitting other and more effective armament to continue at will is not the way. Absolute limitation of potentiality for immediate warfare is what is needed. And the nations do not seem ready for it, including ourselves.

PRELUDE TO BATTLE

Here, where the cliffs against the sea
With rock barriers make their stand,
The waves make their war unceasingly
Upon the armies of the land.

Gold sea above, green sea below;
Force strives against unwearied force;
Listen! The heather sentries blow
Their purple trumpets to the gorse.

The stealthy waves retreat until
They lurk in ambush on the sand,
And the golden banners thrill
Impatient on each steep headland.

The winds from cliff to tall cliff run,
Each an army's messenger,
And every hill beneath the sun
Like some live thing begins to stir.

—Brian Hill in Windsor Magazine.

THE BAD CHECK

I am very blue.
I have here a check that is no good! How I came to possess the worthless thing is a sad, sad story.
My little store was very much behind the times in stock. One day a suave, soft-voiced stranger came in, bristling with new ideas and flashy goods. He took me in wholly with his easy flowing and word picture of rapid sales and his brightly glowing promises. He stocked me from roof to basement with goods I never can sell! But, not satisfied with thus taking advantage of my innocence, he must needs heap indignity upon that.
He returned my check!—Kansas City Times.

ON THE SIDE LINES

A Record of Individual and Independent Opinion.

(Which may or may not be in harmony with the views of the Register.)

GOVERNOR GIVES NO AID—Governor Richardson's statement concerning his candidacy for re-election is remarkable for the fact that it makes no reference to the governor's attitude toward the Colorado river project, which, of all other questions, is of most importance to Southern California.

Can it be that the governor does not know that ever since he has been in office the fight has been on? It would certainly seem so, if one is to judge from the fact that, in all the struggle, the governor of California has not done anything on the side of the people of California.

A sweeping statement, some may claim, and even a harsh one. Nevertheless it is true, unquestionably and undoubtedly true.

When the interests of the people of California are as greatly concerned as they are in the matter under discussion they are not to be served by an attitude of "watchful waiting" or "too proud to fight" on the part of the governor of the state.

A MODERN JACK HORNER—But then there is that policy of economy and an economical administration. "Look what they have done," says the governor, and his admirers repeat and re-echo: "Just look!" "Look at that ten million or so of dollars in the state treasury—put there by me," says the governor; and, "me too" cry his followers.

And yet the people of California know that that very surplus, that big sum of money, now in the treasury is not, and was not, due in any degree to any policy or act of Governor Friend W. Richardson.

The taxes paid (under protest) by the railways under the provisions of the King bill, so called, are represented by this money, which Governor Richardson is now claiming as one of the results of "my policy."

The King bill was not the work of Governor Richardson or his administration. Its virtues and its faults, if faults it has, are to be credited to a former administration.

Now that the taxes, paid under protest, for several years, until a court decision could be had as to their legality, have been handed over to the state of California, Governor Richardson says, in effect, "Look what I did."

Being a little Jack Horner who "Put in his thumb and pulled out a plum, Cried what a brave boy am I!"

JUST ONE MORE—Just one more thought as to this matter of Governor Richardson claiming credit for the money now in hand in the state treasury as something due to his efforts. As well may he claim credit for the fact that the month of April, which, as a rule, does not bring much rain, this year brought plenty.

On April 1st no part of the state had had sufficient rainfall to ensure good crops and an abundance of water for irrigation. At the end of the month an amount of rainfall equal to, and in many cases exceeding the normal amount, was reported from all over the state.

Up to this time Governor Richardson has not claimed the credit for this very satisfactory condition of affairs. But then the campaign young yet, there is plenty of time.

AN OBSERVANT VISITOR—The wife of the Estonian minister to Great Britain has returned to London after a lecture tour of the United States. The lady is evidently very observant for she reports that American women of the smart set are very early risers, and that, in many instances, they were up and on hand to attend lectures given as early as 11 o'clock in the day.

Wonderful, is it not, how quickly visitors from foreign lands find out all about this country and its people?

LAWYERS AND EDITORS ARE MUCH ALIKE—Judge

O. Dunne of Baltimore seems to hold an unfavorable opinion as to newspaper men. In a case tried by him, wherein five newspaper men were charged with contempt of court the whole case acknowledged that they had done precisely that which the judge held to be contempt, i.e. published pictures regarding a case on trial, in defiance of the court's order against it.

The judge took occasion to compliment the defendants for their frankness and candor and added that, personally, he "attributed it to their own integrity rather than to habit" formed by their professional careers.

In other words Judge Dunne believed that the average newspaper man is a crook, and that this is because of his occupation. The newspaper business is, after all, very much like that of a splendid profession—the law. There are lots of good men in it and some not so good.

GRAPE GROWERS PROSPER—The grape growers of California have not been ruined, as they were told would be the case, by the enactment of the Volstead act. Very much to the contrary, the growing of grapes, particularly table varieties, has made a truly wonderful growth.

The fact that the shipment of grapes from this state has grown from 21,605 carloads in 1913 to 73,116 carloads in 1925, would seem to argue a falling off in the grape growing industry of California.

FRUGAL CANDIDATE—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania charges an undue expenditure of money at the recent primary election in his state, when he, with two others, ran for United States senator.

While alleging that his opponents indulged in an orgy of money spending, Governor Pinchot testified that the pre-primary expenditure of himself and members of his family amounted only to the modest sum of $143,000.

When a loser says that sum it is fair to assume that the winner must have spent more than car fare.

HALF-DOZEN GOVERNORS, ASSORTED—Southern California has this week been entertaining no less than six governors who have been here in attendance at the convention of the United States Good Roads association.

With six governors "in our midst" so to speak, it is not hard to account for the week's unusual weather.

ASK BUCKLIN—HE KNOWS—Just in passing, that man Alvin N. Bucklin, mayor of El Centro, seems to have a pretty accurate knowledge of what has prevented the successful consummation of the Boulder dam project.

Speaking Wednesday evening of this week, he deplored the fact that the governor of California had done nothing to co-operate with those who were working for the Boulder dam, and that the congressmen from Los Angeles county had not been whole hearted in support of the project which is needed and greatly needed by all Southern California and by Los Angeles most of all.

Studies Fox Indian, Lore

The old pagan rituals of the independent Fox Indians of Iowa, who wrote their names on the early history of America by contributing somewhat to the French loss of Canada, will again be studied this summer by a Smithsonian ethnologist in an attempt to record them before they become a thing of the past. Dr. Truman Michelson of the bureau of ethnology left Washington yesterday for the Fox reservation at Tama, Iowa, to spend his fifteenth consecutive season of research work with the tribe.

The religious ceremonies of the Fox take place mainly in the spring and fall. Each clan of the tribe has its own rituals, but they all follow the same general pattern, consisting mainly of singing, dancing and eating. The songs tell the stories of mythical heroes of the Fox and frequently contain legends of great interest and poetic charm.

Until recently the Foxes kept up their pagan worship in a humble and reverential spirit. Today, however, the young people attend the festivals of the gentes (or clans) and primarily for social purposes and to get abundant food, and when the old people shall have passed away the festivals will be a thing of the past.

Though in their heyday the Foxes probably did not exceed 1200 in number, according to Dr. Michelson, they have always been a tribe to be reckoned with. They sought to tax the French trade route between Louisiana and Canada, and were thus involved in a 50 years' war with the French. By breaking up that route the Foxes helped the French to lose Canada to the English.

The Foxes came under French and Catholic influence as early as 1640, and although there was some intermixture of European blood in the early days of American colonization, the present Fox reservation contains only one half-breed out of a total of 375. Since their return to Iowa from Kansas in the Civil war period the Foxes have stubbornly maintained their racial purity. Their European blood therefore, dates from eight and nine generations back.

Today the Foxes are a peaceful and industrious people, competing successfully with their neighboring white farmers. The men wear European clothing, but the women tailor their garments after Indian models.

From Iowa Dr. Michelson will proceed to Wyoming to study the language of the Arapaho tribe. The general ethnology of this people has been pretty thoroughly studied, but not much work has been done on their language.

"Their language," said Dr. Michelson, "is from an Algonquin root beyond dispute, but very divergent. I shall seek to tie it up with the normal-Algonquin and to do away with the seeming extreme differences."

Dr. Michelson characterizes the Arapaho as a very friendly people, from whom it is easy to obtain information. The conservative Fox, however, is very reserved and it has required years of work to get him to reveal his ceremonies. Dr. Michelson has nevertheless gathered more material than he has been able to publish, due to the Smithsonian's lack of funds.
